

Set to Use Arms to Free Freedom

Disagree on Some Points on Defense

The disagreements on Berlin and nuclear clear policy, reaffirmed in their allies, summing-up communiqué: "The purpose of NATO is to defend its members by all necessary means."

Backing up this pledge was a U.S. commitment of five nuclear-armed Polaris submarines to the technical command of NATO.

Noncommittal on Talk
Foreign and defense ministers of the NATO powers ended the review Sunday. Their meetings had been marked by sharp and pointed words. The final communiqué reflected some of the debate.

Conference spokesmen had reported that the ministers generally approved Washington's current efforts to sound out the prospects of a Berlin agreement with the Russians. But the communiqué said only that the ministers took note of the U.S.-Soviet exploratory talks. This noncommittal wording was due to French reservations about the value of such talks.

On nuclear policy, the communiqué said it had "been decided to set up special procedures which today enable all members of the alliance to exchange information concerning the role of nuclear weapons in NATO defense."

C. S. Proposal Accepted
This meant acceptance of a U.S. largest proposal for greater consultation on the use of nuclear weapons so that America's allies can better understand the destructiveness and consequences of nuclear war.

France, which reportedly would prefer information on how to make atomic bombs, was known to consider the U.S. proposal inadequate. The new procedure will enable NATO nations to see comprehensive American nuclear studies previously classified as top secret. Actual bomb-making techniques still will be denied the allies.

Informal sources said this U.S. initiative stems from the Kennedy administration's belief that the tactical use of nuclear weapons would almost certainly set off a nuclear war.

Kills 5 Children, Ex-Wife and Self

ZION, Ill. (AP) — A former mental patient brought his five children home from church Sunday, slashed them and his ex-wife to death, and waited until police found the carnage, then killed himself.

Police said Roland Bauer, 31, a factory worker and electrician, slew his former wife, Alice Jean, 26, and their three sons and two daughters with a butcher knife.

Police Chief Robert Corder said he understood that Mrs. Bauer, who was divorced in April 1961, was seeing another man and had hopes of marriage.

Bauer, who lived near his family after the divorce, died in a car parked across the street from the slaying scene. He shot himself in the head with a .357 magnum revolver as a policeman approached his car.

The dead children were: Roland Jack Jr., 9; Beverly, 7; Barbara Jo, 6; Ralph J., 4, and Robbin Jay, 2½.

Segni Chosen President in Bitter Fight

Italian Parliament Takes 9 Ballots Before Decision

ROME (AP)—Election of Christian Democrat middle-roader Antonio Segni as president of Italy threatened today to jar loose the props under his own party's new left-leaning government.

The lean, 71-year-old pro-western foreign minister finally won the nation's highest office Sunday night after an unprecedented nine parliamentary ballots that ended in first fights.

Opposed by Leftists
Voting against him to the bitter end were left-wing rebels of his own party and the solid strength of all three other parties that future in the Christian Democrats' new experiment with a government that leans on Socialist support.

A scattering of Christian Democrat votes that previously had gone to retiring President Giovanni Gronchi finally swung over to Segni and put him 15 votes over the required 428 majority. Also backing him were the Liberals and the Monarchists and Fascists of the right.

Against him were the Communists, Socialists, Democratic Socialists and Republicans. The Democratic Socialists and Republicans are members of the Christian Democrat coalition government. The Socialists have pledged the support the alliance needs for a parliamentary majority.

Polaris Sub Rockets Nuclear Warhead

U. S. Gives No Report on Distance, Explosive Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The power is estimated at about the equivalent of 600,000 tons of TNT. The joint announcement Sunday by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said the weapon was triggered at about 6 45 p.m. EST in the Christmas Island testing area.

The missile was launched by the Polaris submarine Ethan Allen and presumably from deep in the ocean but an AEC spokesman declined to confirm this.

The Polaris has been test-fired many times previously but always with a dummy warhead.

The ballistic missile is one of the few pieces of ordinance ever developed by the United States and put in the hands of operating forces without having been given full-scale field tests.

Prior to Sunday, there had been no combined U.S. test of the two major components—the missile and warhead.

A complete, all-out test firing never had been made. A nuclear charge never had been fired in missile trajectory out into space, then plunked back into the heat-generating atmosphere to detonate above or on a target.

Proof testing is one purpose of the nuclear tests which began April 25 in the Pacific.

The 30 or so explosions, it is understood, will include three

Venezuela Holds Rebel Leaders

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A Venezuelan warship captured several Communist leaders and two rebel naval officers fleeing in a boat after the collapse of the weekend uprising in Carupano.

The government announced in a communiqué today that Red deputy Eloy Torres was among the fugitives seized by the destroyer Moran off the coast of Venezuela.

President Romulo Betancourt praised the loyalty of the government forces in crushing the revolt he charged was sparked by Communists in an attempt to set up a Castro-type regime in Venezuela.

They came from Seattle after a whirlwind tour of the World's Fair, where Titov, 27, at a news conference proclaimed his disbelief in God.

He was asked whether the 25 hours he spent in orbiting the earth 17 times had changed his philosophy.

"Some people say there is a God out there," Titov, a Red air force major, said through an interpreter, "but on my travels around the earth all day long I looked around and didn't see him. I saw no God nor angels."

Redistricting Suit's Dismissal Requested
WAUSAU (AP) — A motion to dismiss Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds' suit to force early reapportionment of Wisconsin's political districts will be heard in Madison on Friday.

U. S. District Judge Patrick T. Stone of Wausau, who heads a three-judge panel named to hear the case, announced the date Saturday.

Roger C. Minahan of Madison filed a motion on behalf of Secretary of State Robert Zimmerman to dismiss Reynolds' action.

Nelson Plans Messages on State's Needs

Reorganization of Services Included in List, He States

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Gov. Nelson today disclosed plans to continue a series of formal messages on pressing problems in state affairs, in spite of his announced plans to retire from the state executive office.

He told reporters at a news conference that in addition to a direct appearance before the State Conservation Commission Friday on extensions of the conservation program the state needs, he will make a major speech on the issue of efficiency in state government and the need for a drastic reorganization of state services which he has put before the Republican controlled state legislature in vain.

Talks to Taxpayers
Nelson said he expects that his successors in the governor's office will carry out the proposals he has outlined.

The governor did not give a time for his reorganization speech, but it will probably be at a meeting of taxpayer associations in Milwaukee in about 10 days. The Public Expenditures Survey, a service organization for

Governor to Get Plan for State Fair Development

MILWAUKEE (AP) — An $18 million Wisconsin State Fair development on a site more than three times larger than the present grounds in West Allis will be recommended to Gov. Gaylord Nelson this week by the Wisconsin Exposition Department.

Herbert P. Veiser of West Allis, chairman of the new department, said he and six other members of the group and Willard M. Masterson, fair director, will meet with the governor Thursday.

A location has not been selected, but Veiser and Masterson said they will recommend that a tract of 650 acres be obtained somewhere in the Milwaukee area. The present fair grounds include 190 acres.

The department has prepared a presentation designed to convince the governor that a new site and buildings are better than pouring more money into the aging West Allis grounds.

Masterson said the buildings on a new site would house year round attractions and would cater to a variety of interests.

Coalition Plans Hit Provincial Capital in Laos Captured by Reds

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Pro-Communist forces have captured Nam Tha, a provincial capital only 20 miles from Red China's border that the royal Laotian government had vowed to defend to death.

Premier Bouan Oum's government and Peiping radio today announced the fall of the town to the rebels after a Sunday of fighting.

Defenders Quit City
The United States denounced the rebel attack as a violation of the year-old cease-fire but U.S. officials in Washington generally hoped it would not wreck attempts to set up a coalition neutralist regime to take Laos out of the cold war.

Boun Oum's Information Minister Bouanvan Norasing said 15,000 defenders of Nam Tha had been evacuated and the city was now in enemy hands.

Bouanvan said the government had received only fragmentary reports from the area, 225 miles northwest of Vientiane, and gave no details of the retreat.

The only overland escape route from Nam Tha, which had been under siege for four months, was a road leading to Houei Sai, 150 miles to the southwest on the Thai border.

A group of 12 American military advisers with the government forces in the town fled in a helicopter to the royal capital, Luang Prabang. An American officer said the government troops put up a pretty good fight.

Peiping radio said Pathet Lao forces stormed Nam Tha in a fierce counterattack after the royal army — "along with the American" — began a large-scale attack on rebel defense positions.

Oshkosh Woman, Man, Girl From Black Creek Killed in Accidents Over Weekend

Five persons met violent death in the Fox Cities area over the weekend, three of them in two automobile accidents and the other two by drowning.

A Kewaskum man also died Sunday, about the time of a double fatality accident near Oshkosh, of injuries received Saturday evening in a U.S. 41 crash on "suicide lane" between Oshkosh and Fond du Lac.

Highway crash victims are:

Miss Judy Schlitz, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Schlitz, route 2, Black Creek.

Douglas D. Duquette, 20, 679 Frederick St., Oshkosh.

Mrs. Ida Mae Schmick, 45, 1106 Arthur Ave., Oshkosh.

LeRoy Schultz, 37, Kewaskum.

Drowning victims are:

Frank Roszak, 34, Milwaukee.

Adolph Niski, 46, Milwaukee.

Miss Schlitz was dead on arrival at the New London Community Hospital after the car in which she was riding left State 76, half a mile north of Stephenville, tipped over on a road bank and pinned the girl between the car and the tree.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said he will order an inquest into the death. Four other passengers in the car, including the driver, Gerald Voeks, 18, route 2, Black Creek, were thrown from the car and required treatment at the hospital.

Passengers Injured
Other passengers were Harland Romeresko, 18, route 2, Black Creek, Richard Bauman, 17, route 2, Appleton and Glenn Vick, 16, route 2, Black Creek.

According to county police, the car left the road on a curve on State 76, went 65 feet off the roadway and tipped on its side, pinning Miss Schlitz between the car and the tree. The driver said an animal raced across the road in front of the car and he swerved to miss it. There were no seat belts in the car.

Kemps said cause of death was internal chest and head injuries and a probable fractured neck. Miss Schlitz is survived by her parents, a sister and two grandparents. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at St. John United Church of Christ, Black Creek, with burial in Highland Memorial Park, Appleton. Friends may call at the Borchardt and Mader Funeral Home, Hortonville, after 2 p.m. Tuesday until 10:30 a.m. Wednesday and then at the church.

Head-On Crash
Duquette and Mrs. Schmick were killed in a head-on collision on U.S. 45, seven miles south of Oshkosh at 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

Both were pronounced dead on arrival at Mercy Hospital at Oshkosh. Duquette's parents live in Fond du Lac.

Mrs. Schmick was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Henry, 49, which was headed north. Also in the car were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sloan, 755 Oak St., Oshkosh, who were hospitalized with multiple cuts and abrasions.

David Spranger, 20, Fond du Lac, a passenger in the Duquette car, also was hospitalized with cuts and bruises.

Witnesses in a car behind the Schlitz auto told Winnebago County police Duquette's southbound car was in the left lane when it struck the Schlitz car.

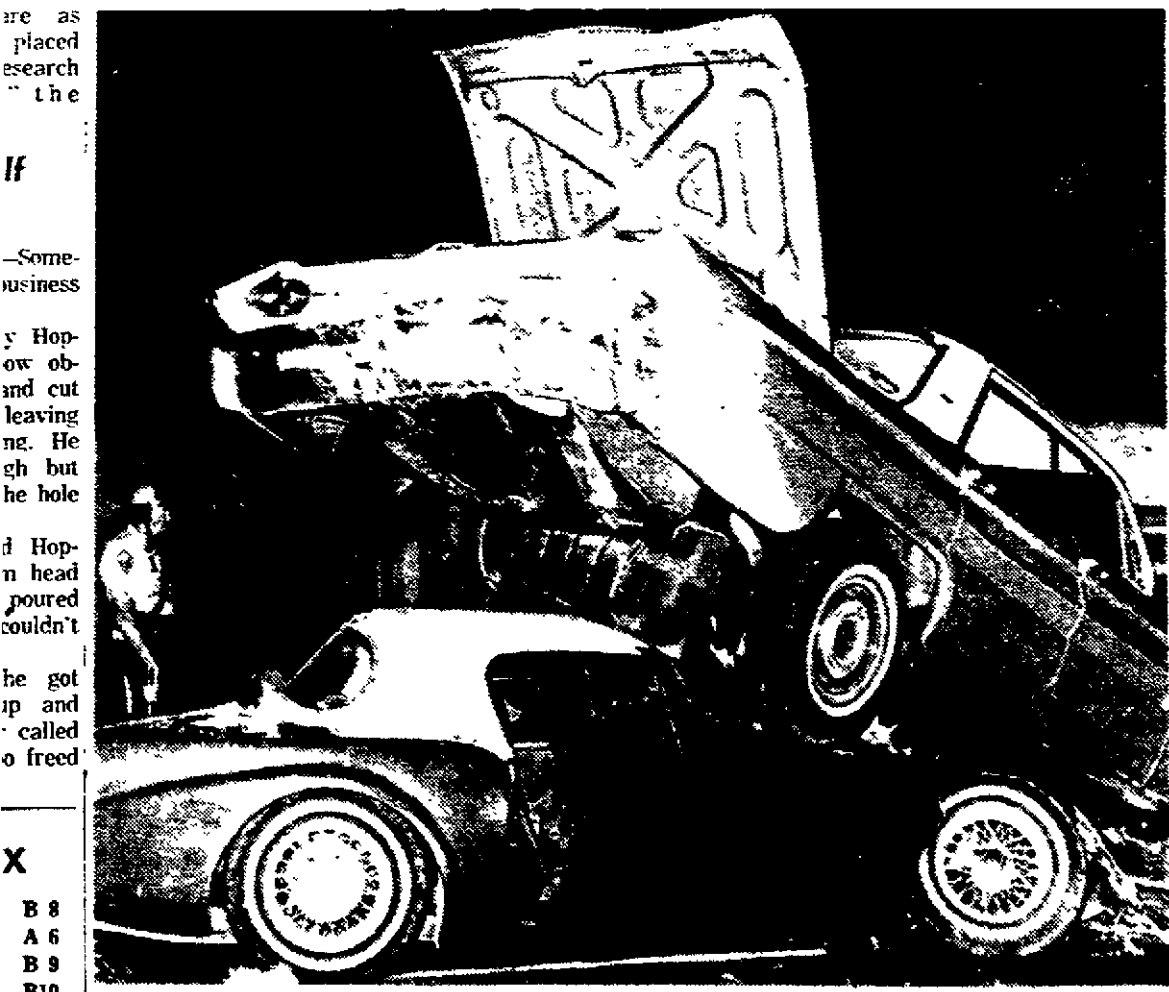

The blast — and the announcement — came while delegates of 17 other nations were considering disarmament proposals and prospects for a nuclear test ban treaty.

All of the previous French nuclear experiments were carried out with blasts in the air. The series started Feb. 13, 1960, when France proved that she had acquired the capability of building an atomic device.

Bob Kennedy Wants Federal Literacy Test

Attorney General's Statement Adds Fuel To Capitol Dispute

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — Atty. Gen. Kennedy wrote in a letter the other day to the New York "Herald Tribune" that the bill before Congress, which seeks to fix a sixth-grade education as enough to satisfy literacy requirements, isn't an invasion of the right of the states "to set voting standards." He says that the proposed law is aimed at and "limited to the use of discretionary tests, capable of manipulation by registration officials."

This is a surprising statement and one that has added considerable fuel to the fires burning on Capitol Hill as senator after senator opposed to the bill points to the decisions of the Supreme Court which declare that the Constitution gives to the states alone the power to set voter qualifications.

Mr. Kennedy argues that as proof of literacy a state can determine if eight or 12 years of schooling or four years of college and that these would be "objective standards and qualifications which would not be affected in any way by this bill."

Literacy Tests

What the attorney general contends really is that the federal government has the right to pass judgment on the extent to which literacy tests as such can be applied. He insists that as a substitute for the tests Congress can flatly set a sixth-grade education as a standard and the states would have to give up their literacy tests and accept this as a qualification for voting.

But although the head of the Department of Justice says it is all right for the states to use any particular grade in school as the basis for their requirements on literacy, he doesn't give any inkling as to where in the Constitution he finds any authority for Congress to take away from the states their right to determine in their own way what literacy is or is not.

Sens. Willis Robertson of Virginia, Sam Ervin of North Carolina, and Herman Talmadge of Georgia, Democrats, have cited in speeches to the Senate in the last few days decision after decision of the Supreme Court in United States in which a judgment was expressed directly contrary to that of Atty. Gen. Kennedy.

Case Cited

The Virginia senator, for instance, called attention to a case decided by the Supreme Court of the United States as recently as June 8, 1959, known as Lassiter v. Northampton County Board of Elections. It upheld a North Carolina literacy test, Justice Douglas, in speaking for a unanimous court, said:

"The states have long been held to have broad powers to determine the conditions under which the right of suffrage may be exercised. . . .

"The present requirement, applicable to members of all races, is that the prospective voter be able to read and write any section of the Constitution of North Carolina in the English language. That seems to us to be one fair way of determining whether a person is literate, not a calculated scheme to lay springs for the citizen. Certainly we cannot condemn it on its face as a device unrelated to the desire of as an infected tooth, bad tonsils, North Carolina to raise the standards for people of all races who cast the ballot."

Justice Douglas quoted with approval the court's opinion in the case of Guinn vs. United States, which had said:

Validity of Test

"No time need be spent on the question of the validity of the literacy test, considered alone, since, as we have seen its establishment was but the exercise by the state of a lawful power vested in it not subject to our supervision, and indeed, its validity is admitted."

Where the federal government, through the Department of Justice, can step in, of course, is to see to it that the literacy test is fairly applied irrespective of race or color. This means a lawsuit in any case of alleged discrimination. A particular "literacy" test may be "unconstitutional on its face," as Justice Douglas says, but the proper place to determine this is in the courts — not in Congress.

No law of Congress, therefore, can constitutionally declare that, because a literacy test might possibly be a form of abuse, it should be prohibited altogether and that a standard of "literacy" and completion of a certain grade of school shall be accepted as a substitute for a test. If, every time a law by Congress but only by paper, an abuse occurs in any right exercised constitutionally by a state, a law then can be passed by Congress fixing its own "standard" as a preventive measure, then all rights of the states

Lymph Nodes Useful In Fighting Infection

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: What can be done for glands that flare up in my neck, armpits and groin?—MRS. C. B.

Dear Sir: Last year I noticed three little knots or lumps just below my left ear where the neck joins the shoulder. The doctor said they were lymph nodes and nothing to worry about; they might last a week, a month, a year or forever. If they don't go away is there a chance of malignancy?

To be real honest I can't help but wonder.—MR. A. P.

Let me go the long way round. Let me mention the fact that we automatically think of the blood—and there's another, and important type in our bodies; lymph circulation. Lymph is something like blood plasma plus some useful variations, and it circulates through fragile channels, here and there it reaches nodes, whose purpose is to filter out material accumulated by the lymph in its important job of fighting infections.

Inflamed Ducts

Suppose you have a badly infected hand and see ominous red streaks under the skin. Those are inflamed lymph ducts. Next, unless the infection is halted, lymph nodes at the elbows and then the shoulder will become swollen and tender.

Nodes in the groin protect the legs; those in the neck may become enlarged from such things as an infected tooth, bad tonsils, even scalp infections. And there are others scattered about the body.

Very common diseases — German measles is one—may be feared by the enlarged nodes. Mononucleosis can do it in various areas. And so on.

Usually an enlarged node or group of nodes will subside when the infection is past, but not always. Sometimes they remain oversized indefinitely, without doing any harm.

There is, however, this to consider: Enlarged lymph nodes can also be a sign of troubles such as leukemia, Hodgkins disease, lymphoma, and tuberculosis, most of these not being common.

Nodes That Persist

Removal for microscopic examination will give the answer. Let's not all go running to have our nodes checked; it's not unusual to find them in groin or neck from infections long since gone.

Rather, my comments today refer to newly discovered nodes that persist, grow larger, come and go or in some such way draw the patient's attention.

Where swollen glands accompany some known illness, forget them. But where the reason isn't obvious, and your doctor can't detect some other suspicious signs, it is well worth while to have the relatively simple checking to filter out material accumulated on the node itself.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a dear friend whose doctor tells her she has tuberculosis of the stomach. Please give me some facts that I can give her so she will realize this is wrong.—E. A. B.

The tubercle bacillus (that's the name of the germ that does the mischief) seems to have a predilection for the lung, but it can, on occasion, attack other parts of the body, including the stomach. For instance, you've heard of tuberculosis of the bone, haven't you? It's the same germ, in a different area. So please don't try to tell your dear friend anything except that her trouble is rather unusual, but far from unknown. It may be, too, that the germ was recovered from stomach washings rather than the sputum. This does not mean tuberculosis of stomach but rather that sputum has been swallowed instead of expectorated. This happens with active tuberculosis of the lungs and is one means of making the diagnosis.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have occasionally noted a milky color in my urine, but when I have a medical checkup the urine specimen has always been all right.—MISS A. C.

Such cloudiness can result from eating fruits (the cloudiness is from phosphate crystals which form), or from mucus or pus. Either of the latter, however, would have been shown in urine tests.

Kimberly High School Students Promenade in 'Blue Hawaii'

The Kimberly High School gym was transformed into a scene from "Blue Hawaii" Friday evening when the Junior Class held its prom. Tropical flowers, palm trees and a pool added charm and authenticity to the theme of the traditional spring event.

The grand march was led by Raymond Maynard, prom king, and his queen, Miss Mariann Fox. Members of the court were William Timmers and Miss Mary Luniak of the senior class; Thomas Bogenschutz and Miss Mary Ann Weyenberg, junior class members; Lee Levknecht and Lesley Kraft, sophomores, and Terry Subert and Miss Barbara McDonald, freshmen.

Assisting the students with decorations and planning were Miss Pauline Bachhuber, Miss Catherine Hohmiller, Charles Rundquist and Andre Ranney, teachers at the school.

Friends Gather at a Prom, just as they do anywhere, and the quartet above sat at one of the tables surrounding the dance floor at the Kimberly High School gym. They are Denny Dufrane, Kathy Daniel, Tom Hoezel and Mary Lamers. Table decorations were large tropical flowers.

Prom Night Is An Enchanted time for high school students, and those at Kimberly High School enjoyed all its special charm. Above, taking a few moments for refreshments are Jerry Londre and Betty Wolfinger. Miss Rita Wolff assists at the punch bowl. Decorations added to the party atmosphere.

Post-Crescent Photos

The Couple at left, Pat Jansen and Don Fink, indicate that the true purpose of a prom is dancing, and dance they did. They and other high school students and their guests enjoyed the 8 p.m. to midnight party. At right, discussing the ingenuity of the decorations committee in creating a tropical pool and bridge as part of the prom decorations are Bill Timmers, Mary Luniak, Ken Smits and Jan Trettin.

The Ailing House Spackle Can Fill Wall Gaps

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: We have a one-story ranch home of dry wall construction. Over a period of time, we have noticed the ceiling seems to be raising away from the walls in some places. How can this be remedied?

A: Your description indicates possible new - house settlement and shrinkage. Spackle can be used to fill gaps (available in hardware or paint stores and very simple to use), or you can use molding around the edge of the ceiling to cover the defect.

Q: The wrought-iron legs of my dinette set have become peeled, chipped, and rusty. How can I refinish this?

and rusty areas with sandpaper or steel wool and turpentine. Apply any good metal primer, followed by a finish coat of metal enamel. If outdoor furniture, be sure to use exterior-type enamel.

Q: What would cause rust in our hot water-and how to correct this? We put in a glass-lined water heater about six years ago and there are no visible leaks. It is a 30-gallon tank. I wash two to three times a week and it is emptied each time. We tried to drain it from the bottom but when we shut the cold water off lead- ing to the hot water tank, the water would not run out of the bottom of the tank.

A: As you found out, water won't flow when you shut off the intake valve to the tank thus creating a vacuum holding the water back. However, it may well be that the rusting is caused by some getting ancient pipe joints or fittings through which the water passes on its way to the tank or within the tank. This is something for a plumber to make a personal inspection on the spot.

Cut Bias Carefully

Every time I see someone cutting bias strips in a helter skelter manner, I die a little, because I know that those strips just are not going to work right.

Bias is used for cording and around all types of curves, right? It then stands to reason that the bias strips must be as elastic as possible. Now, if the strips are not cut on the true bias they will not stretch enough, and, therefore will be killers to try to work with properly. Also, if the ends are on the wrong grain, joining two strips together will be a mess.

So, for the benefit of those of you who have wondered what you've been doing wrong, let's go through it from marking to joining.

The true bias falls on a diagonal line, halfway between the two grain lines. To find the true bias, fold the fabric so that the lengthwise threads fall along the crosswise threads. The fold line is the true bias. To cut a series of bias strips, measure a squared-up piece of fabric equal distances along each edge of a corner, and mark. For instance, if you look at Figure 1, you see a corner of a piece of fabric with 8 inch markings.

The Golden Years

Retirement Means a Different Way of Life

BY THOMAS COLLINS

Fifteen months from now he'll only $800 to his U. S. Bonds in the be retired. He'll be two months last two years.

be, and the age of 65. His wife will be 61, a year short of collecting her own Social Security.

He will have two paid-up life insurance policies with a total face value of $12,000.

Here are his other assets:

A house that is clear and in joint ownership with his wife.

U. S. Savings Bonds, also in joint ownership, with a face value of $1,000.

A savings account in the bank, also joint, that amounts to $700.

A two-car old car.

Six rooms of medium priced furniture with a freezer, range, refrigerator, TV set and a piano.

How to Cut?

This man is deeply concerned about his retirement. His salary is $9,500 a year ($180 a week). Taxes and upkeep on his house, which he thinks he could sell for $16,000, are running around $300 a year. Living costs are running right up to his salary—he has been able to add only $800 to his U. S. Bonds in the last two years.

How can he cut down to the $235 a month? This will be about $54 a week. If he can save no money on $180 a week how can he possibly live on $34?

For this man, and for all those others beset with a similar kind of problem, here is some advice:

In the first place a $180-a-week man doesn't make $180. It's more like $135 after income taxes. Then the costs of working—bus fare, lunches, coffee breaks, Social Security, charity, and what next?—will cut it another $10. Clothes he fitting the $180 job can cut it another $10 a week. A retirement income of $2.5 a month is about half, and a man with a house can manage.

Cuts Will Show

It will be embarrassing if he says where he is. Because $56 a week, or $8 a day, must come out of his way of living. And the cut-back will show. Still he can manage.

But if he cringes from what his neighbors are thinking, then there is an out—moving—moving to where people don't know, or care, how he used to live.

A house a man thinks is worth $16,000 will probably sell for $14,000. Then the real estate commission and the middle-fiddle will take another $1,000. So he walks out with $13,000 in his pocket.

In small towns all over the south—but not in the resort areas—a retired couple can buy a little frame house with a plot of garden ground for $9,000. This leave $4,000, plus the $3,400 in U. S. Bonds. The total of $7,400 in a bank or savings and loan association at 4 per cent would be extra income

Kansas Senator Hopes Tax Bill Will be Shelved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., said Saturday he would like to see the Senate decline to take any action this year on President Kennedy's tax revision bill.

"And I don't think I will be alone in that view," said Carlson, second Republican in seniority on the Senate Finance Committee which now is considering the bitterly disputed legislation.

But Carlson conceded in an interview that his wish probably will not come to pass.

"No doubt the administration will insist that our committee bring something out," he said.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the committee told a reporter he hopes to call the group together in about 10 days to start its executive session work on the bill.

of about $25 a month . . . added to the $245 pension.

This could be wealth in a small community of little money, while it could be near-poverty in a $180-a-week community in the North.

Not The Same

It's not the same dish of life, for sure. But it's not necessarily bad. And a man and his wife can adjust to it, even at age 65—even with turnip greens and grits.

But the economics of it are only a part of the picture. The man who remains in his neighborhood on his cut-down retirement income usually does little except to pull in and pull in—and pull in some more. He and his wife become introverted and increasingly more isolated as they cut the cloth to fit their coins.

Somewhere else, where neighbors don't snicker, there is an atmosphere where a man and his wife can take a deep breath, put on corduroy pants, and go marching into town. To open an art shop. To hire out as gardeners. To run for Congress. To do all the magnificent things they might want to do . . . but wouldn't dare back where they came from.

Retirement can really be more than how-much-you've-got. Especially if how-much-you've-got is enough. It's an adventure into a second life.

Prod Special Unit Studying Welfare

County Board Also Looks to Building Needs

The county board's special committee studying welfare practices received a back-of-the-hand prod this morning from two supervisors who questioned the committee's investigative tactics and claimed the county hospital is being operated at excessive per capita cost.

The spirited exchange brightened an otherwise dull morning session of the Outagamie County Board. In the only other significant action, the supervisors revived almost-forgotten plans to construct an addition to the present courthouse.

By a voice vote, supervisors committed themselves to constructing an addition anywhere around the building except in the front. Two plans were presented to the board's Public Property and Insurance Committee several months ago. One of the alternatives was to build onto the front of the courthouse.

Today's action apparently prohibits such construction, even if it might prove to be the most economical.

Other Cases

Supvs. Alos C. Fischer and Eugene F. Kloes, representing Appleton's 15th and Fourth Wards, respectively, charged that hospitals in adjacent counties are being operated at far less cost than is the Outagamie County unit. They directed their charge at the special committee.

Neither Fischer nor Kloes are members of the investigative group. They said they were studying the situation "as supervisors and taxpayers and in the interests of economy in government."

Supv. Sylvester Esler, 18th Ward, a member of the special committee, argued that patients are getting better treatment in Outagamie County than elsewhere and that the county hospital meets minimum state requirements "which is something some other counties can't say."

Want Answers

Both Fischer and Kloes wanted to know why the committee questioned certain state officials about hospital operation. "An investment committee has to know what it is looking for," Kloes said. "A bank examiner will not that's what the county wants."

Grand Chute to Operate Electric Speed Meter

GRAND CHUTE — Operation of a one-man speed check with an electronic meter will go into effect about May 21 on residential streets in the Town of Grand Chute.

Town Constable Russell Neubert said the device was approved by the town board May 1. Cost of the secondhand speed meter was $175.

Neubert said the hours of operation will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. "but ation and the areas the speed hospital operation. "An investment committee has to know what it is looking for," Kloes said. "A bank examiner will not that's what the county wants."

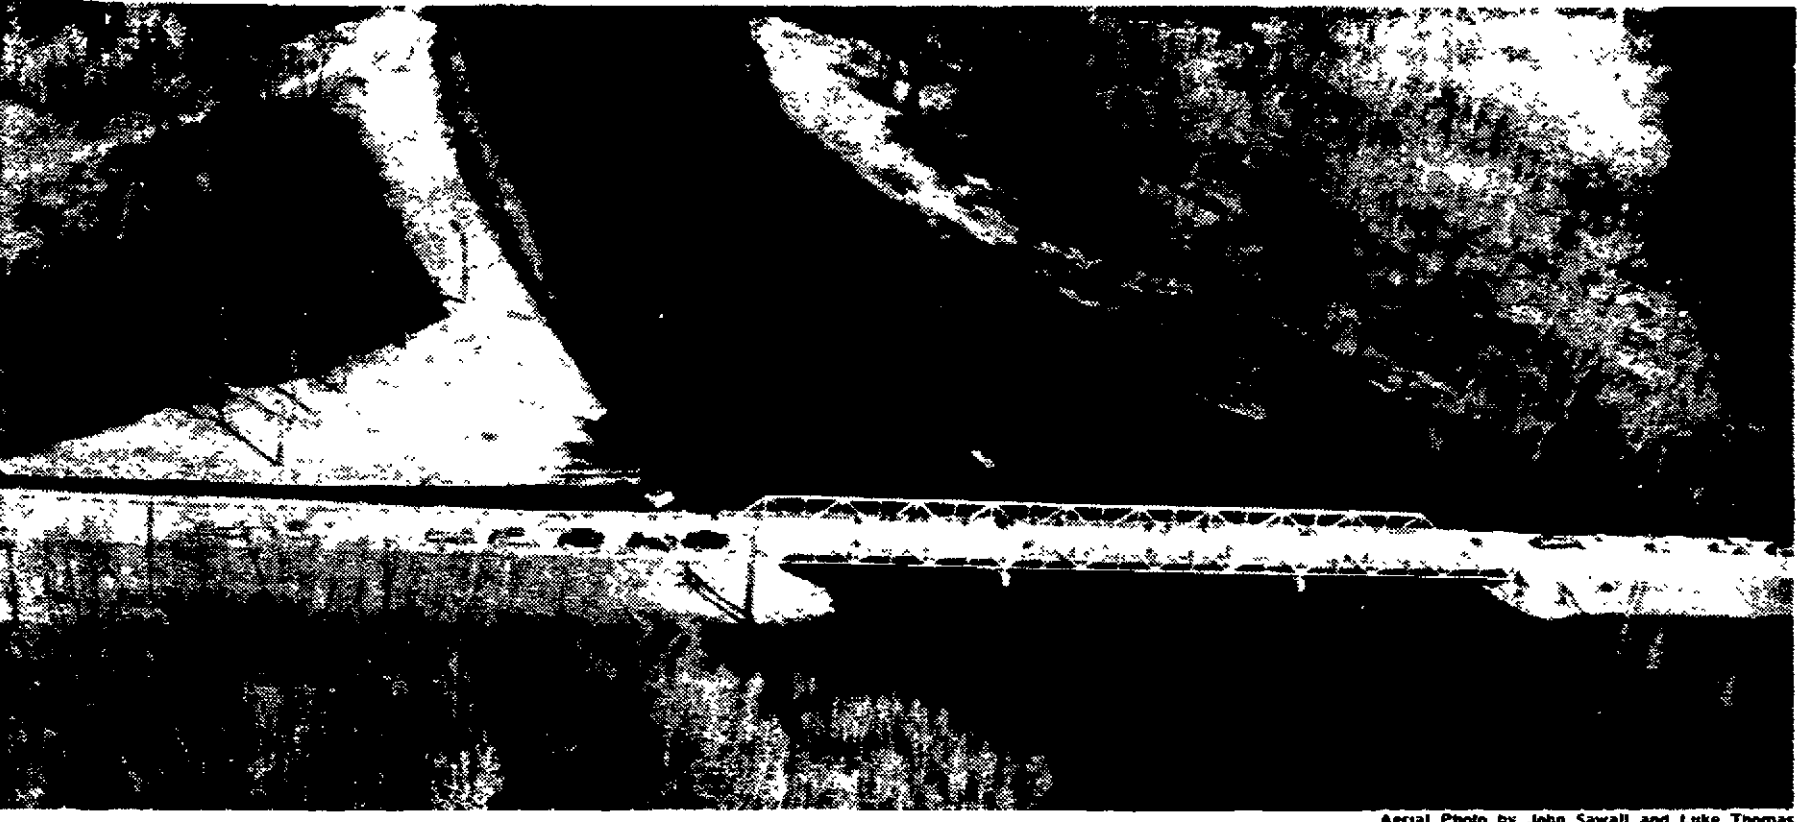

Two Persons Were Killed and Four injured in this crash seven miles south of Oshkosh on U. S. 45 at 1:30 a.m. Sunday. The car at left, driven by Douglas Duquette, 20, Oshkosh, apparently skidded into the lane of oncoming traffic and was struck broadside by the other car, driven by Henry Schmick, 49, also of Oshkosh. Duquette and Schmick's wife, Ida Mae, 45, were pronounced dead on arrival at Mercy Hospital, Oshkosh.

Members of Company C, 291st Battalion, Appleton, staged a mock assault river crossing on the Wolf River at the Stephenville bridge, County Trunk S, Sunday. Members of the unit attacked an area of high ground to the right, north of the bridge. Once the area was secured the engineers constructed a 250-foot combat bridge across the river.

Classroom Study Put to Use

Many See Army Engineers Cross Wolf With Bridge, Assault Boats

STEPHENSVILLE — A large group of spectators had gathered Sunday afternoon as they watched men from Company C of the 291st Combat Engineer Battalion, Appleton, construct a foot bridge across the Wolf River and execute a realistic river crossing in assault boats.

The operation took place two miles west of here, a short distance up stream from the Stephenville bridge on County Trunk S. For the men of the company it meant turning classroom study into practical use. For the spectators along the river bank near the bridge, it was a display of the efficiency of an army reserve unit.

It was the first time many of the men of the company had ever constructed a pontoon foot-bridge. The narrow bridge supported by metal pontoons and assembled on shore was pushed out into the swift current of the Wolf. The time that elapsed from when the first pontoon hit the water until to gather a short time later to a man stepped off on the opposite shore was 25 minutes. A second crossing in assault boats and attempt took 10 1/2 minutes. To make the crossing more realistic, men had been placed on made up of men from the Fox Cities area, arrived at the river crossing site at about 10 a.m. The crowd of spectators began

Far From C Rations

While most of the troops of the company were taking part in the assault crossing, cooks and KPs prepared a hot meal. With the aid of modern army field kitchen equipment, the cooks prepared a meal of ham, mashed potatoes, peas, strawberries, carrot sticks, olives and celery. A far cry from the familiar old Army C Ration.

During the afternoon the company, commanded by Captain Clifford Fisher, Oshkosh, disassembled the bridge and rebuilt it for practice. Other groups of men carried out practice exercises in constructing large cook tents, manning machine guns and bazooka emplacements and guard duty.

Appleton Firm To Supply Saw Mill for Tribe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Appleton Machine Co. was awarded contract Sunday to supply saw a $147,315 Interior Department mill equipment for the Red Lake Indian Mills at Redby, Minn.

The equipment will replace an obsolete tribal saw mill that has been operating almost continuously on the Indian Reservation since 1925.

Lawrence Professor To Speak at State Bankers' Meeting

A Lawrence College professor will be among the speakers at the 45th annual convention of the Wisconsin State Chapter, American Institute of Banking, in Sheboygan Tuesday and Wednesday. More than 200 are expected to attend.

Professor George Walter, director of teachers' education at Lawrence College, will be one of the convention speakers. Delegates will be greeted by Carl A. Biederman, president of the Wisconsin Bankers Association and president of the Oshkosh National Bank.

Delegates from Appleton will include Art F. Hansen, Robert P. Dohr and John C. Tilson from the Outagamie County Bank, and Jerome J. Captaine from the First National Bank.

Four Youths Hospitalized After Car Rolls

Only One Unhurt In Sunday Crash Near Waupaca

WAUPACA — Four young men were hospitalized about 7.25 p.m. Sunday when the car they rode in went out of control at State 54 and 22, about three miles east of Waupaca, and rolled over four times before coming to a rest on its wheels, 60 feet from the road in a farmer's field.

Eugene F. Christensen, 19, Chicago, who is serving in the Navy at Great Lakes, Ill., had a severe head injury, burns on the left side of the face and severe bruises and scrapes.

Joseph E. Shadduck, 21, Bear Creek, injured his left leg and chest; Gerald A. Honish, 18, 137 Auto St., Clintonville, received chest injuries and six teeth were knocked out, and John J. Anderson, 21, 151 S. Main St., Clintonville, suffered severe cuts, bruises and shock. All four are at the Waupaca Memorial Hospital.

One Not Hospitalized

Duane W. Buss, 19, 45 West St., Clintonville, another passenger, was not hospitalized. Buss told police that he and Shadduck were in the back seat of the car and were not thrown out. The three in the front seat, including Anderson, the driver, were thrown out. The seat belts in the front seat were not used, police said.

Christensen was trapped under the car and Buss and passing motorists helped him out. His face was burned by the muffler.

Waupaca city policeman Harley Dunbar, brought Buss, Honish and Shadduck to the hospital. Anderson and Christensen were taken by Holly ambulance.

Sheriff Ray Abrahamson, Sgt. Loren Frazier, county policemen, and John Bonnell, sheriff's deputy, were at the accident scene.

Failed to Turn

Skid marks showed the car failed to make a curve to the south while driving west, police said. The wheels went up to the right shoulder of the highway and the car skidded sideways, rolling over in the road before rolling across a ditch into a field. The accident report showed. Skid marks measured 364 feet.

Buss told police the five men had been put out of the Bear Lake beer bar by Patrick Conroy, owner.

Teen-Ager Hurt in Crash

Kaukauna Boy's Condition Serious At Appleton Hospital

Ray Vander Loop, 18, route 1, Kaukauna, is in serious condition at Appleton Memorial Hospital where he was taken by Larry's ambulance late Saturday night after the car he was driving hit a culvert on County Trunk O, east of State 47.

Vander Loop was found about 50 feet from the car where he had been thrown after his car left the road.

Vander Loop was alone in his car when the accident occurred. The youth is the son of Mrs. Peter (Emma) Vander Loop, route 1, Kaukauna.

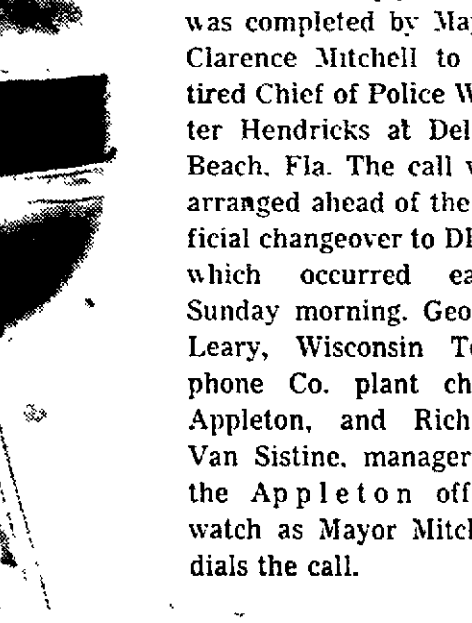

A Milwaukee motorcycle driver, Paul Cmelek, 31, was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital about 4:15 p.m. Sunday when he was injured while participating in a motorcycle race on a private track near County Trunk HH, south of Buchanan Road. Cmelek was treated for head injuries after his machine slid and went out of control and tossed the driver.

Cmelek, who was an entrant in the "Motorcycle Scrambles," lost his crash helmet when the machine rolled over.

He still was unconscious this morning and his condition is listed as "fair."

The First official direct distance dial telephone call from Appleton was completed by Mayor Clarence Mitchell to retired Chief of Police Walter Hendricks at Delray Beach, Fla. The call was arranged ahead of the official changeover to DDD, which occurred early Sunday morning. George Leary, Wisconsin Telephone Co. plant chief, Appleton, and Richard Van Sistine, manager of the Appleton office, watch as Mayor Mitchell dials the call.

Girl Charged With Magazine Sales Fraud

Green Lake County
DA Discovers His Subscription Altered

OSHKOSH — A magazine sales-girl picked the wrong person to sell a magazine subscription to in Berlin Friday night.

Saundra Queen, 20, Baltimore, Md., and Robert Prage, no address listed, have been charged with fraud in warrants issued by Green Lake County after Miss Queen sold three magazine subscriptions to Charles Wildermuth, Green Lake County district attorney.

After buying the subscriptions, Wildermuth investigated and discovered his order had been changed to subscriptions for three cheaper magazines.

The pair was picked up by Oshkosh police at the request of Green Lake County authorities. Miss Queen told Oshkosh police the order blank switch was done on instructions from Prage. Prage denied knowing anything about the scheme.

Working Through College

To obtain the sale Miss Queen told Wildermuth she was working her way through Oshkosh State College. She also used the same ruse to sell an Oshkosh woman $34 worth of magazines. The woman's husband stopped payment on the check but it already had been cashed at a supermarket.

The magazine selling scheme came to light when an Alton, Ill. man turned himself in to Milwaukee police Friday morning and admitted forging seven checks, totaling $88, in Oshkosh and Winnebago May 1 and 2 and turning the money over to Prage on the pretense it was from magazine sales.

He said he was instructed to hand a note to a potential customer saying he was a Korean war veteran who had lost his voice but could still hear. He was to be arranged in Winnebago County court this afternoon.

Twin Cities Get DDD System

Mayors Try Out
New $1,350,000
Local Equipment

NEENAH — Local officials placed the first direct distance dialing (DDD) telephone calls from Neenah - Menasha at the new service's introduction. From the office of Neenah District Manager Warren Behoff of Wisconsin Telephone Co., Mayors John Klein of Menasha and Carl Loehning of Neenah, and Chamber of Commerce Pres. Ralph McCloske tried out the new system.

Installation of the $1,350,000 equipment for the local exchange began last fall.

Cutover to public use of DDD began early Sunday. Joining the Twin Cities were Appleton, Green Bay, Kaukauna, Stevens Point, Merrill and Surgeon Bay areas. In Wisconsin, 60 exchanges now are on DDD.

C. M. Flaherty, local exchange manager, suggested local subscribers keep their DDD instruction pamphlets, mailed last month close to their telephones. Other copies are available at the company's business office, 117 S. Commercial St. Complete DDD instructions will appear in the new telephone directory, to be delivered in fall. If anyone has a question on the new DDD, says Flaherty, call the business office or dial the operator.

African Leader Would Nationalize Industries In Southern Rhodesia

GWelo, Southern Rhodesia (AP) — African nationalist Joshua Nkomo said Sunday a government controlled by his Zimbabwe African Peoples Union would nationalize major industries and break up large land holdings.

Speaking at a mass meeting he suggested scrapping Southern Rhodesia's new constitution and proposed calling a new constitutional conference.

Nkomo said the new white-controlled government will rule only "by force of the gun" if the present constitution is not suspended.

Old Poison Mustard Gas Shells Wash Up On Coast of England

LONDON (AP) — The War Office announced Sunday night that nearly 1,000 poison mustard gas shells, which fell into the sea during World War II tests, have washed up on the Glamorgan coast of Wales in the past two weeks.

Some of the shells were leaking and a two-mile stretch of coast was cordoned off. The area had been an army testing range during the war.

Democratic Feud Possible in Texas

Gubernatorial Runoff Election Matches Liberal Yarborough Against Conservative Connally

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The pressive lead in Saturday's six-bruising all-out gubernatorial runoff race for the Democratic nomination, appears confident he will clobber his runoff foe June 2.

Tagged A Liberal

Republicans can't influence the result, but they could hope that Yarborough, who is tagged a liberal, might defeat Connally, who bears a conservative label.

This would give their candidate, Breckenridge oil man Jack Cox, better running ground to campaign as a conservative for the November general election.

Many Texas Republicans have been thinking this might be the year they could get a real start on establishing a two-party system. They held their first primary since 1930 last Saturday.

1.3 Million Votes

While they polled less than 100,000 votes of the 13 million tabulated, this in itself was not discouraging. They could look also on the more than 100,000 Democratic votes for former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, a John Birch Society member, and hope they might pick up a substantial number of these in November.

Gov. Price Daniel, seeking his fourth term, finished third in Saturday's primary, followed by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, former State Highway Commission Chairman Marshall Formby and Walker.

Returns from 253 of 254 counties, 164 complete, gave Connally 391,750 votes, Yarborough 287,383, Daniel 223,385, Wilson 156,693, Formby 130,709 and Walker 125,712.

Former Democrat

Cox, a former Democrat, led Roy Whitehouse, Amarillo cattleman and publisher, 87,911 to 44,194.

All six Democratic congressmen who had opposition in the primary appeared certain of re-nomination. Only Rep. John Dowdy of the 7th District held difficulty. He held a close margin over Benton Musselwhite. Texas' only Republican congressman, Bruce Alger, was unopposed.

In referendums, Texans approved abolition of the poll tax and rejected the return of legalized horse race betting. The vote is not binding on the legislature.

Aide to Johnson

A handsome six-footer, Connally, 45, was for many years an aide to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. He insisted, however, that the decision to run for governor was his own and that he elected "no one will be at the side or behind the governor's chair."

Yarborough—no relation to Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., is a 36-year-old New Orleans-born ex-Marine who surprised Texas political observers two years ago by polling 600,000 votes plus in an unsuccessful bid for lieutenant governor.

87th Congress Moving Along At Snail's Pace

Leaders Anticipate Late Summer of Early Fall Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Statistically at least, the second session of the 87th Congress is moving at a snail's pace. This week's program in the Senate and the House indicates little concern about the situation.

Congressional leaders apparently have given up hope for an early election-year adjournment and some of them are reconciled to a late summer or fall session following a midsummer vacation.

A handful of relatively non-controversial bills is on the House schedule for the week.

Literacy Tests

The Senate's main attraction will be an effort to break a filibuster over a voters' literacy test bill, with the showdown slated for Wednesday. The filibuster, now in its third week, has stalled the Senate's legislative machinery.

One major measure may get a big push toward enactment when the House votes Wednesday on a resolution to create a compromise committee to work out differences over a bill to aid higher education. The administration-backed measure has passed the House and the Senate in widely different form but technicalities have kept it out of a Senate-House compromise committee.

Moving Slowly

For an election year, both branches of Congress have been moving slowly. Up to May 1, only 45 public laws had cleared both branches and been sent to the President. During the 1960 election-year, 417 such laws were enacted.

Even the introduction of bills has slowed down to a trickle. Senators have introduced 165 bills to date and House members 622. In 1960, there were 1,497 Senate and 4,830 House bills offered.

One reason for the slowdown has been the absence of members involved in primary elections. By the end of May, however, most of the primaries will be out of the way and congressional leaders hope for a speed-up in legislation.

Grain Storage Plan Hurt by Estes Scandal

Texas Financier One of 10,000 With Contracts

WASHINGTON — The Billie Sol Estes scandal has raised questions in some congressional minds about the entire U.S. grain storage program.

The government spends around $500,000,000 a year on this.

Estes, the Texas financier under indictment for fraud, is only one of more than 10,000 persons who have contracts to store the government's surplus grain.

Charges of Favoritism

Charges have been made—and denied by officials of the Agriculture Department—that favoritism was shown to Estes. The charges, however, have not been made under oath before a congressional committee.

Are the charges about Estes true?

Are there other Estes cases waiting to be uncovered?

What is the Agriculture Department doing to prevent a repetition of the Estes case?

These are some of the questions that will be gone into by congressional investigators headed by Rep. L. H. Fountain (D-N.C.).

The House Intergovernmental Relations Subcommittee, which he heads, is now quietly gathering information for a public hearing. Plans are to begin this in about a month after another hearing, opening today into grain export transactions, has been concluded.

Quick Action

Incidentally, Estes might not still be available for congressional investigations if the Justice Department had not moved first and fast in his case.

Apparently smarting under im- plications voiced by the Republican leadership of Congress that the Kennedy administration was attempting a cover-up operation, an authoritative source disclosed that the Justice Department had foiled a suspected Estes plan to flee the country.

"There were indications that Estes was preparing to slip away to Brazil," the source said. "The FBI moved in on him the end of March to prevent this."

Manoogian Re-Elected U. S. Armenian Primate

NEW YORK (AP)—Archbishop Sion Manoogian was re-elected primate of the Armenian Church of America at a four-day assembly of the diocese.

The election Saturday night was the chief order of business for the 150 delegates, who came from Canada and every state in the United States except California, which has its own diocese.

Party Primaries Scheduled Tomorrow in Five States

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Voters in five states make their choices in party primaries Tuesday involving two governorships, two U.S. Senate seats and 34 House posts.

Elections in Ohio, Florida, Indiana, New Mexico and West Virginia will be spiced with some old familiar political names.

Ohio Republicans will choose between the sons of two late Ohio senators for the nomination for congressman at large. They are Robert Taft Jr., majority leader of the Ohio House and son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, and State Sen. Thomas Lowell Fess, son of the late Sen. Simeon D. Fess.

Democratic Contests

On the Democratic side in Ohio, both Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Sen. Frank J. Lausche have opposition but seem assured of renomination. DiSalle is opposed by State Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, Lausche by former labor organizer Albert T. Ball of Cleveland.

John Marshall Briley, Toledo attorney, and James A. Rhodes, former mayor of Columbus, appear to be the leaders in GOP primaries for senator and governor respectively.

Former Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida, defeated in the 1950 Democratic primary by present incumbent Sen. George A. Smathers, has three opponents in a race for one of Florida's four new House seats. An early New Dealer, he has endorsed the Kennedy administration without reservation.

Smathers Running

Smathers also is running, seeking his third term in the Democratic primary with Robert L. Davis and Douglas R. Voorhees. Emerson Rupert of St. Petersburg is unopposed for the GOP senatorial nomination.

Another gubernatorial contest is in New Mexico where four Democrats seek the nod to challenge Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mechem, unopposed in his bid for a fifth-term nomination.

Lord Snowden May Quit His Job on Paper

LONDON (AP)—Lord Snowden, Princess Margaret's husband, has been telling his friends he wants to give up his job on the Sunday Times. The Daily Sketch reported today.

"From what we hear he will be resigning from his post as artistic adviser to that newspaper's color supplement in the near future," the tabloid said.

Snowden — freelance photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones before his marriage to Margaret — has been working on the newspaper just over three months. His salary, reportedly is around 10,000 pounds—$28,000—a year.

Mark Boxer, editor of the Sunday Times color supplement and one of Lord Snowden's best friends, refused to discuss whether his most talked about employee wanted to quit.

The Sketch said Roy Thomson, owner of the Sunday Times, said the report wasn't true, that "Lord Snowden is very happy in his work."

The Sketch said "one constant source of embarrassment to 'Snowden' has been the attitude of some of the staff.

"Unused to colleagues of his rank—a hush falls on a room when he enters—some of them have found difficulty in adjusting themselves to the presence of the queen's brother-in-law."

The Sunday Express reported Sunday that Snowden is searching for an apartment away from Kensington Palace, where he lives with his wife. He has been to see an apartment in Chelsea—one of his old haunts — but decided it wasn't quite big enough.

Carbon Monoxide Gas Kills Girl but Not Roommate

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A young woman was found dead Sunday of carbon monoxide poisoning but her roommate survived after sleeping at her side for 37 hours.

Police said the fumes which killed 19-year-old Joyce Wendorf came from a faulty mechanism of a gas refrigerator in her first floor flat. The county medical examiner said she had been dead for about 24 hours.

Norine Triebe, also 19, was reported in satisfactory condition but was hospitalized for observation.

She told authorities she and Miss Wendorf retired early Saturday and that she got up once to take aspirin for a headache but remembered nothing else until aroused shortly after noon Sunday.

Miss Triebe's brother, Bradford, and his wife live on the second floor of the building which is owned by his father. They said they attempted to arouse the girls Saturday by repeated knocking on the door so the flat could be shown to prospective tenants.

On Sunday Bradford Triebe said he climbed partly through the girls' window, saw they were in bed and climbed out again. Mrs. Triebe said she then went downstairs and knocked at the door until her sister-in-law opened it.

Jackie Kennedy Visits With Father-in-Law

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy spent nearly two hours Sunday with her hospitalized father-in-law and told newsmen afterwards that he was "fine."

Joseph P. Kennedy, 73, the President's father, is undergoing rehabilitation treatment here for the effects of a stroke.

Mrs. Kennedy plans to meet today with her White House committee on painting and fine arts. She will fly to Groton, Conn., Tuesday for the launching of the nuclear submarine, Lafayette, and return to Washington later in the day.

Change in Plans Announced

Kennedy to Remain in Milwaukee Overnight

MILWAUKEE (AP) — State Democratic leaders, and members of the Secret Service as well, are making final plans for President Kennedy's trip to Milwaukee next weekend.

Patrick Lucey of Madison, state party chairman, said Sunday that the President will stay in Milwaukee overnight after addressing the $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson dinner at the Arena Saturday night.

The original assumption was that Mr. Kennedy would remain only a few hours after his address.

Change in Plans

Lucey said the announcement in the change of plans was made by Secret Service agents, at a meeting Sunday with dinner officials. He said no reason was given why the President plans to remain in Milwaukee until the following morning.

"We don't know where he's going when he leaves Sunday," Lucey said. "He may have decided that he and his staff just need a good night's sleep and that's why they're staying over."

He said the President will arrive by jet plane probably after 3:30 p.m. Saturday and that the presidential bubble — top car will be driven here this week for the planned motorcade from the airport.

40-Man Entourage

Lucey said the presidential entourage "may run as high as 40," including some Wisconsin congressmen and Ivan Nestingen, former Madison mayor and now undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Lucey said ticket sales had exceeded 1,500 by the weekend and he expected to meet the quota of 2,390 available reservations.

Some 6,000 spectator seats at $5 each have been offered regular Democratic party members and organized labor while a limited number have been made available to the general public.

State Medical Society Opens Meeting Today

Hayward Hospital Named Winner of Achievement Award

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The State Medical Society of Wisconsin opens its annual convention today with some 1,500 physicians expected to attend sessions which conclude on Thursday.

The society council selected Hayward Area Memorial Hospital Sunday to receive the 1962 hospital achievement award and directed the society's Charitable, Educational and Scientific Foundation to make a health survey of Menominee County.

The foundation will name a committee of five physicians to make the survey and report to the council, which will set up a long range program for the county, formerly an Indian reservation.

Studies Listed

The study will include cancer detection, screening, immunization programs, prenatal and post-natal care and similar matters.

The Hayward hospital with 29 beds, serves a large area in northern Wisconsin and was opened in 1953. Before that, the nearest hospitals were more than 50 miles away.

The council noted that in addition to area residents, the tourist industry during summer months created additional need for its services. In nine years of operation the Hayward hospital has served nearly 7,000 patients from 127 Wisconsin communities and another 621 persons from 21 states.

Committee Chairmen

In other action the council appointed ten physicians to head advisory committees which work in health and welfare matters.

It forwarded to the House of Delegates a resolution opposing the proposed federal system of financing health care for the aged under social security and authorized a committee to meet with representatives of the Wisconsin Osteopathic Association to discuss relationships between members of the two groups.

Dr. T. W. Tormey Jr., of Madison was reelected chairman of the Commission on State Department of the Medical Society. The ten physicians selected to head the various divisions include Drs. A. M. Hunter, Fond du Lac; H. W. Carey, Lancaster; H. A. Anderson, Stevens Point; J. W. Nelson, Green Bay; Keith Keane, Appleton; Richard Windor and L. M. Simonson, Sheboygan, and John Evrard, Ray Piskoski and Meyer Fox, Milwaukee.

Former Politician Dies in La Crosse

LA CROSSE (AP) — Harry Dahl, a pioneer auto dealer and twice-defeated candidate for lieutenant governor, died in Lutheran Hospital Sunday. He was 78.

Dahl opened his first car agency at Westby in 1911 and eventually owned dealerships in several states. In years of continuous service he was believed to be the oldest Ford dealer in the nation.

He was defeated as a Republican candidate for lieutenant governor in 1930 and 1932.

Right-Wing Military Coup Possibility in Troubled Venezuela

Leftist-Inspired Disorder Aimed At Toppling President Betancourt

BY GERRY ROBICHAUD
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

MEXICO CITY — The danger in Venezuela is not so much that Communists and pro-Castro elements may overthrow the Romulo Betancourt government as that mounting public disorder might provoke a right-wing military coup.

For their own perverse purposes that would suit the extreme leftists far better than having the reform-minded moderately leftist President Betancourt remain in power.

The foolhardy but bloody weekend marine garrison revolt in Eastern Venezuela would seem to indicate that the Castro-Communists are operating from a position of weakness if not desperation so far as the toppling of Betancourt is concerned.

Internal Disorder

In the sense that the extreme left cannot muster enough strength of its own to get rid of Betancourt, such an assumption is correct. But the important point is that first of all the Castro-Communists want Betancourt out of the presidency — and they don't care how it's accomplished. If they can't do it themselves, they know they can't, then they are perfectly willing to stir up as much internal disorder as they possibly can so as to persuade the military that public order can be restored only by Betancourt's removal.

The idea is to "get Betancourt" at any cost.

Whether their strategy will work remains to be seen. Certainly no other Latin American country has had more violence in recent months than Venezuela and for the most part it was inspired by extreme leftist elements whom the government also blames for the marine garrison uprising in Carupano.

Gleeful Prediction

In Communist Cuba Prime Minister Fidel Castro has been gleefully predicting the imminent downfall not only of his number one Latin American enemy Betancourt but also of his number two prize hate, President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes of Guatemala. Castro may not be the most rational of men but it is highly unlikely that he is irrational enough to believe Castro — Communist forces in either Venezuela or Guatemala are sufficiently potent to oust Betancourt or Ydigoras. He must recognize, as do most Latin American observers, that at this stage of the game only the military of their respective countries could step in to put an end to the present political careers of Betancourt and Ydigoras.

A military take-over in either Venezuela or Guatemala or both would be far from dismaying to Castro because a good part of the Castro-Communist tactics relies on infiltration of the military.

While such tactics have met with only very limited success and even then have ended up in failure, as in the Carupano garrison revolt, the Castro-Communists seem to feel that this is only the beginning. They believe that in the long run they can exploit the impatience of young officers who feel they are being held back by their older higher-ups.

Hunters Catch 930 Rattlesnakes; Meat Costs $2.50 a Pound

OKENE, Okla. (AP) — Men's fascination with serpents reached its yearly peak here this weekend with the 23rd annual Okeene rattlesnake roundup.

Hundreds of hunters, armed with long-handled snares and gunny sacks, captured 930 rattlesnakes in the Gypsum Hills near here. About 17,000 persons were on hand for a look at the catch.

The roundup, a three-day event, includes a rattlesnake banquet, dance and awards dinner. Hunters were paid 50 cents a pound for snakes big enough to be butchered and eaten.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the roundup, will sell the frozen snake meat at $2.50 a pound.

Nikita Plans to Visit Bulgaria

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass announced today that Premier Khrushchev will visit Bulgaria about the middle of this month. He will be accompanied by a delegation of government leaders.

The visit, Khrushchev's first outside the Soviet Union in nearly four years, is expected to last about five days.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — For years "they" said it couldn't be done. But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment; that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair.

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If your symptoms indicate that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at your risk, and see for yourself.

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. This is all the more remarkable in light of the fact that the great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are 18 scalp disorders that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. If you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at your risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them information to help them analyze your problem. This information should include how long your hair has been thinning, and whether or not you now have or ever have had any of the following conditions: Do you have dandruff? Is it dry or oily? whether your scalp erupts in pimples or other irritations, does your forehead become oily or greasy? does your scalp itch and how often? and any other information you feel might be helpful. All letters will be answered promptly. Send the above information, and your name and address to Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Box 65001, Houston 6, Texas.

U. S. Tests Attacked In British Press

Astronomist Claims Explosions Will Disturb 'Van Allen Belt'

CHICAGO Daily News Service
LONDON—Sir Bernard Lovell, famed head of Britain's Jodrell Bank radio astronomy station, has renewed his attack on American plans to explode three hydrogen bombs at altitudes of up to 500 miles in June and July.

Writing in the Sunday Observer, one of Britain's most highly respected newspapers, under the headline "American Roulette 500 Miles Up," Britain's most noted radio astronomer repeated the arguments against the American project that he first voiced in a sensational statement last Tuesday.

Principal Objection

His principal objection to the American plan is based on the assumption that the highest of these tests will seriously disturb the innermost of the Van Allen belts of radiation that surround the earth and set back scientific investigation of the belts for at least 10 years.

These belts are now thought to occupy most of a zone extending from a few hundred miles above the earth's surface to about 20,000 miles altitude.

The innermost of these belts is relatively stable and consists largely of protons positively charged particles. The outermost is composed mainly of electrons (negatively charged particles) and is highly unstable, varying in both position and intensity. All of the belts are kept in balance by one another and by the earth's magnetic field.

Unpredictable Consequences

Lovell and other scientists who have criticized the American project fear a general disturbance of these layers with unpredictable consequences.

"The worst possibility," Lovell wrote in Sunday's Observer, "is that the earth's magnetic field will be so disturbed that the protons in zone B—the innermost Van Allen Belt—will be drawn into the atmosphere. It might well take a decade for the zone to be repopulated by natural processes." A fresh supply of particles would normally be provided by intermittent solar disturbances.

Scientists concerned with the study of the radiation belts particularly lament the American project because it will interrupt their studies during a period of relative tranquility on the sun's surface which would normally facilitate their investigations.

General Disturbance

One result that the tests are almost certain to have is a general disturbance of the ionosphere, the region between 60 and 250 miles above the earth's surface, which consists of electrons and positively charged oxygen and nitrogen atoms. This belt is vital to long range communications because it reflects radio waves. A general blot-out of communications for a limited period may result from the tests, European scientists believe.

Lovell's most serious charge is that the United States has disregarded responsible scientific opinion in deciding to hold the tests. In his first attack on the tests he had demanded more information about American calculations and announced that he would take no further action until such information had been furnished.

In Sunday's Observer he admitted "The Americans may have data which will remove these doubts and which will convince the international scientific community that the effects will be temporary. If so," he added, "they should produce the information before they make this sledge-hammer blow at the radiative environment of the earth."

New Safety Group Formed For Appleton

An Appleton City Safety Committee has been formed to try to reduce the number of accidents involving city workers.

The committee will meet the first Friday of each month to review accident reports and claims for workers' compensation. It will work with the city's insurance carrier to try to settle the claims.

Fire Chief Roland Kuehn is chairman of the committee. City Electrical Inspector Fred Volkman is vice chairman, and City Clerk Elden Broehm is secretary.

Other members of the committee are Mayor Clarence Mitchell, Wolff, will become a member of Recreation Director Elmer Grothe committee when he begins his new Park Superintendent Harold duties here June 13.

Missouri Synod Now Largest Lutheran Church Body in U. S.

The Lutheran Church—Missouri through the merger of the ULCA Synod has become the largest Lutheran body in America, but will maintain the position only until this summer.

Gaining 75,708 members during 1961, the Missouri Synod now has 2,344,544 baptized members in the United States and Canada, an increase from 2,268,734 in 1960. The total attains for the body the 5,757 in 1961. In the Missouri North American Lutheran membership lead held for the last 44 years by the United Lutheran Church in America.

The ULCA, which has pared its membership rolls sharply in the last year, registered a gain of only 754 baptized members among its 22 synods in 1961 and now has a total of 2,495,763.

Merger Planned
Destined soon to become the largest body in American Lutheranism, however, is the new through 1960, showed there were Lutheran Church in America, with 8,456,865 members in all Lutheran bodies in the United States and Canada.

The LCA will be established Canada.

Market Stalls At Dead Center

Steels Show No Response to Demand Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was stalled at dead center early this afternoon in slow trading.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 247.10 with industrials, rails and utilities all unchanged. Movements of most key stocks were from fractions to around a point.

Steel Demand

Steels showed no response to reported signs of improvement in steel demand. Big Three motors were off slightly despite the favorable news of low inventories of new cars.

The slackoff in volume from last week's relatively active pace was sharp.

Tobacco, airlines and rubbers seemed to have an irregular up side edge. Oils and chemicals were mostly lower. Building materials and nonferrous metals were mixed.

U. S. Steel

U.S. Steel held steady in fairly active dealings. Bethlehem and Jones & Laughlin eased. Republic Steel dropped nearly a point.

General Motors and Ford took fractional losses and Chrysler eased. American Motors was firm.

IBM showed a 7-point loss. Korvette also was off a couple of points and Texas Instruments fell more than a point.

Gains of about a point were shown by Consolidated Natural Gas, Reynolds Tobacco and Eastman Kodak. U.S. Gypsum slipped about 2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.48 at 622.68. Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Government bonds showed scant change.

4 Teen-Agers Hurt in Six Calumet Accidents

Youths Injured as Car Goes Off State Highway 57 Near Chilton

CHILTON — Two of the six weekend traffic accidents investi-gated by Calumet County police resulted in injuries to four teen-agers.

Two of the injured youths crawl-ed from a car that skidded off State 57, 4 1/2 miles south of here, and landed on its top in a creek about 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

The vehicle was driven by Dan-iel N. Achter, 18, route 1, St. Cloud. Achter told police he was southbound on State 57 and lost control on wet pavement after rounding a curve. The car skid-ded across the highway, narrowly missing a steel bridge abutment and dropped into a creek some 10 feet below.

A curve on the Quarry Road in High Cliff State Park a half mile from the main park entrance was the scene of an accident that hospitalized two Appleton teen-agers.

Cars driven by Ronald P. Kneice, 18, 1716 S. Madison St., Appleton, and Duane P. Mertes, 32, Milwaukee, collided at the curve, about 6:30 p.m., according to county police.

Kneice suffered head lacerations and neck injuries. A pas-senger in his car, Kathleen Gal-lagher, 17, 1738 W. Spencer St., Appleton, suffered neck injuries and multiple cuts and bruises.

They were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton, by the Schniederle Ambulance, Stock-bridge.

Car Damaged
A 1962 model car was badly damaged after it left U.S. 10, State 114 about 1 1/2 miles east of Waverly Corner at 8:30 p.m. Sat-urday. The car was driven by Harold T. Mathe, 25, 813 W. 10th St., Oshkosh.

Mathe told police he lost con-trol of the car after the right wheels slipped off the pavement onto the soft shoulder. The car skidded and rolled about 150 feet and wound up on its top in the right ditch.

Mathe escaped injury. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Cars driven by James H. Cul-len, 34, route 4, Chilton, and Del-mar F. Novak, 28, Manitowoc, were involved in an accident at

Spahn Wins; Braves Split Doubleheader

Farrell Fans 11 Batters In Nightcap

MILWAUKEE (AP) The Milwaukee Braves marked time during a schedule break today after struggling for a split of a four-game series with the fledgling Houston Colts.

Farrell Spahn

Warren Spahn earned his third victory of the season and No. 312 of his fabulous career by defeating the pesky Colts 3-2 in the opener of a Sunday doubleheader.

The split, before a crowd of 12,635 chilled by an east wind which swept through County Stadium in mid-afternoon, left the Braves in seventh place, nine games behind front-running San Francisco and percentage points ahead of the Colts.

Spahn, who has lost three, pitched an eight-inning in evening his season record at 3-3. He stopped the Colts in every inning except the third when a single and a homer by Roman Mejias accounted for two runs.

Pick Up Run
The Braves picked up a run in the first on the first of four straight hits by Mack Jones, whose 12th inning homer provided a 6-5 12 inning victory Saturday.

Milwaukee added another in the second on a single by Del Crandall, a sacrifice and Spahn's single. Crandall then provided the decisive run in the fourth when he lined his second homer of the year into the left field bleachers near the 360-foot mark.

Mejias took care of the hitting and Farrell the pitching in the nightcap. Mejias hit a two-run homer off Milwaukee starter Carl Willey in the first inning and then slammed a three-run shot over the left field wall in the eighth off Cecil Butler, the third of four Braves pitchers. Farrell scooped the Braves on four hits and struck out 11.

The Braves scored their only run of the second game in the first inning when Tommie Aaron singled, advanced on an infield tap, and came around on brother Hank's double to the wall in center.

Milwaukee suffered a harsh blow in the first inning of the Cards Acquire Shantz From Colts; Mets Trade Zimmer and Marshall

BY JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Another chapter is beginning in the checkered career of Bobby Shantz, one-time most valuable player.

The diminutive left-hander was swapped to the St. Louis Cardinals by the Houston Colts Sunday.

Shantz, 36, and in his 14th big league season, was voted MVP of the American League in 1952 when he had a 24-7 record with the Philadelphia Athletics. The 5-foot-7 150-pounder went from the A's, then in Kansas City, to the New York Yankees in 1957 and later was picked in both major league expansion drafts. Washington took him from the Yankees in the 1960 AL draft, traded him to Pittsburgh two days later, and Houston chose him from the Pirates roster in the National League draft last year.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves anxiously awaited a medical report today on the condition of slugging third baseman Eddie Mathews, who was forced to retire with a shoulder injury in the first inning of the second game with the Houston Colts Sunday.

Mathews said he felt something "pop" in his right shoulder when he fouled off a two strike pitch from Houston right-hander Dick Farrell.

After the shoulder was massaged by trainer Doc Feron, Mathews took a couple of practice swings and stepped back into the batter's box. He then swung weakly at a third strike and had to quit.

Mathews went home for the night. The Braves said he would be examined and have precautionary x-rays taken today.

Foxes Lose Opening Pair

1,378 Watch Dubuque Win Matinee

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Dubuque, one of the seven hold-over baseball clubs in the Midwest League, spoiled the circuit debut of Fox Cities, 5-3, Sunday afternoon at Goodland Field.

The Packers, boasting far more experience in the infield and the outfield than the Foxes, scored their inaugural victory with a rookie battery: right-handed pitcher George Pressley and catcher Roy Brandhurst.

The 6-foot-4 Pressley had a 3-hit shutout going until his control broke down in the eighth, and he walked the first three batters. All three walks flowered into runs, but reliever Tom Wilworth eventually saved the victory.

Artful Pitching
For the first seven innings, the new Foxes also showed an enthusiastic crowd of 1,378 some artful pitching. Right hander Ed Watt permitted only two hits in that span, but one of them — a third inning double by returning regular Dick Allen — cost the Iowa City hurler a 1-0 deficit and eventually the decision.

After Watt was removed for a pinch batter, reliever Tom Fisher gave up three runs in the eighth and one in the ninth. However, he was victimized by fuzzy defensive play — a rather abrupt departure for the Foxes, who had displayed sharp fielding during the first seven frames.

Dubuque's Roy Brandhurst was hit by a pitch to open the third inning and advanced on Pressley's sacrifice. He moved to third on a passed ball and scored when the left-handed hitting Allen punched one over third base for a double.

This was the only scoring of the snappy first seven innings. The only other hit off Watt was a lead-off single by Ed Bays in the fourth. The Foxes wasted an inning-opening double by Markowski in the fourth.

With Fisher pitching in the eighth, shortstop Bob Litchfield fumbled Allen's grounder. Allen took second on a wild pitch. After an infield out, Bays hit a run-scoring double to left. Ron Henderson singled him to third. Bays scored on a force play. Orlando Centellas scooted home as Markowski lost Bob Roman's fly ball in the sun, and it went for a double.

Behind, 4-0, the Foxes came to life in the eighth. Litchfield, Bob Lewandowski and Markowski all walked. Lefty Wilworth replaced

Mays Homers As Giants Tip Chicago, 7-3

Willie Celebrates Birthday With 3 Hits; O'Dell Posts 4th Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Willie Mays, the one time "say hey" kid, turned 31 Sunday and celebrated by leading the San Francisco Giants to a 7-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Mays had three hits including his 10th homer and boosted his average over .300 for the first time this season. His two-run homer in the first inning started southpaw Billy O'Dell toward his fourth victory without defeat. The Giants battered starter Bob Bush for nine of their 10 hits.

For the 26th time in as many games, an opposition pitcher failed to finish against the power-packed Giant line-up while O'Dell turned in the 13th complete game by the San Francisco pitching staff.

Kuehn Homers
Mays' home run gave the Giants a 2-0 lead in the first inning and Harvey Kuenn's first homer to lead off the third made it 3-0. San Francisco came up with four more in the sixth with Mays launching the rally with a liner to left which he turned into a double with an extra burst of speed.

Mays fled deep to left his fourth and final time at bat and now has a .309 average for the season, raising his mark nearly 10 points during the past week.

O'Dell had a four hitter going until the eighth when the Cubs reached him for three hits and two runs on a single by B. G. Smith, a double by Ron Santo and a single by Billy Williams. A double by Williams, an error and Ernie Banks' sacrifice fly gave the Cubs an unearned run in the fourth.

Jack Schmitzer, of Neenah, won first place in the Class B stock hydro and third in Class B utility to lead area driver in the Badger Racing Club events at Neosho Sunday.

Vern Kargus, Menasha, took third in B stock hydro and won the Class A race only to be disqualified because of a rule infraction. With Kargus out, Dan Cartwright, Oshkosh, was declared the Class A winner.

Pete Wenzel, Appleton, took third in the Class C utility. The Wisconsin Stock Utility Outboard Racing Association will open its season Sunday at Kaukauna.

Packers Tally 2 in Ninth For 7-6 Win

BY RALPH MUELLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Fox Cities Foxes handed Dubuque a pair of unearned runs in the top half of the ninth inning Sunday evening to go down to their second straight defeat (7-6) of the new Midwest League season.

The Foxes held a 6-5 advantage, going into the final frame but committed three consecutive errors to allow the tying marker to score before Richie Colpaert served up a single to Bob Roman, driving in Ron Henderson with the winning run.

The Foxes are idle in league play tonight but open at Dubuque Tuesday night with Bill Robertson slated to do the pitching against the Packers' Jim South.

Hits Line Drive
Bill Bays opened the ninth-inning Sunday by reaching first on Bob Litchfield's high throw. Henderson then slammed a line drive at pitcher Richie Colpaert, who knocked it down and threw wildly to first with Bays coming around to score and Henderson going all the way to third.

After Colpaert got Orlando Centellas on strikes, Roman singled home the winning run.

A turn-out of 438 saw the night game in 40-degree weather.

Two Steves started mound duties for the teams with both putting up a stack of strikeouts. Steve Cosgrove fanned 10 but walked seven in 5 1-3 innings for the Foxes. He also fired five wild pitches.

Strikes Out 7
Steve Bailey struck out seven and walked five for Dubuque before being replaced by Bill Wolfe in the fifth inning.

Tom Wilworth got the win for Dubuque after he hurled two innings of near perfect relief ball. The only man to reach base was on an error. He accounted for all six outs via the strikeout method.

Richie Colpaert was the loser and the third of the Foxes hurlers, tie fanned three after following

Mickey Mantle Hits 3 Homers as Yanks Split

Stenhouse, Bouton Both Win First Major League Starts

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle hit three home runs in a doubleheader Sunday but the New York Yankees had to settle for a split with the last-place Washington Senators.

Jim Bouton, a 23-year-old rookie making his first major league start, shut out the Senators with seven hits in the 8-0 second game after Washington rallied with three in the eighth to win the 4-2 opener.

Mantle hit a tremendous 450-foot drive, deep in the bleachers in right center in the first game and followed with two more in the second game. This slugging performance boosted his season total to six homers, one more than nightcap when Eddie Mathews injured his right shoulder while fouling a two - strike pitch. Mathews was an easy strikeout victim on the next pitch and then retired. He was scheduled for x-ray examination today.

Second Victory
Farrell earned his second victory of the campaign, both against the Braves, in going the distance for the first time in his major league career, started in 1956. Willey, driven out in the fifth, was charged with his second defeat. He has not won a game.

The Braves had a day off today before opening a three-game series with the Pittsburgh Pirates at County Stadium Tuesday night.

Pressley and struck out Jim Norwood. Player-manager Cal Ripken singled off the third base scoring. Edwards' single filled the man's glove to score the first 62 bases, but the side was retired run for Fox Cities. Jack Seymour when Leo Cardenas popped to singled to left for two more tallies. Ripken, however, was trapped on a cut-off play, and the rally lost its zing.

Don Bowen singled home the Packers' insurance run in the ninth.

Words Often Misused: Either Insanitary or Unsanitary is correct, although INSANITARY is perhaps more frequently used.

Often Mispronounced: Elixir, cry-tee-n-ion, accent second syllable. Pronounce ee-lick-ser, accent on ble. "We cannot accept his second syllable."

Often Misspelled: Genius (ex-character, extraordinary ability). Genus (class or kind).

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: Criterion; judgment respecting it. Pronounce cry-tee-n-ion, accent second syllable. "We cannot accept his second syllable."

Words as a criterion of that man's character.

U.S. Steel Head Makes Appeal For Harmony

Commerce, an address coolly received by the audience of businessmen.

He quoted approvingly a passage discussing the role of adequate business profits as a main-spring of expansion in the nation's economy, and the government's dependence on flourishing business to achieve many of its major objectives at home and abroad.

Says Profits Lagging

Blough called for great understanding of how corporate profits have lagged behind other segments of the economy since 1950, and the extent to which the lag is "weakening our industrial potential."

In this period he said they rose only from $22.8 billion to $23.3 billion last year—"or virtually not at all."

By contrast, the nation's wage and job benefits rose from $154 to $303 billion, business taxes jumped from $42 billion to $70 billion and income of the merchant landed $80 billion from $47 billion to $80 billion, Blough continued.

Plants Called Obsolete

"This depressed state of corporate profits certainly accounts in part for the fact that some $90 billion worth of America's industrial plant and equipment is obsolete today," he said.

Blough took issue anew with the President on what constitutes a noninflationary wage settlement, a position in which railroad and aluminum industry leaders lately have joined him.

By administration definition the concept covers agreements that limit employment cost increases to the over-all rise in industrial man-hour output—a figure it has set at 3 per cent a year since 1946.

The steel agreement, providing for a 2 1/2 per cent employment cost increase, was hailed in government circles as non-inflationary, Blough rejected this view emphatically.

types of tests—proof, effect and new weapons.

The proof tests will check out nuclear weapons systems the United States has developed but never fired. The effect tests will try to learn what an enemy nuclear explosion would do to U.S. missiles, radar and underground missile sites.

Another missile that may be tested with its nuclear warhead for the first time is the Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile.

Fleet of 41 Planned

The Minuteman and the Polaris rate at the top of the Weapons priority list since they will form the core of American nuclear striking power.

So far the United States has five Polaris submarines in operation, each armed with 16 missiles. Three others have been commissioned and 19 more are under construction or have been authorized.

The goal is to have a fleet of 41 cruising the seas by 1967.

Five Polaris subs were assigned by the United States Saturday to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference schools and universities and more were promised when they hit the waves.

taxpayers clubs, is backing his major proposal for reorganization.

"This is a part of our unfinished business. These are issues we must face," he said about reforming the sprawling state government into fewer and centralized operations agencies.

When it was suggested that the effect of his victory speeches will be to build a platform for his prospective successor as Democratic gubernatorial nominee Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds, Nelson said he hopes the issues he is raising will become part of the 1962 Democratic campaign platform.

Announcement Waits

Nelson also said that he won't announce his expected candidacy for U.S. senator before President Kennedy comes to Milwaukee Saturday for a fund-raising speech. But, he said, he has bought two tickets at $100 each for the rally.

When reporters asked for comment on a Legislative council hearing here Wednesday on a bill to provide for offering of the pledge of allegiance in the public and private schools, he said the proposal is intended by Republicans as "propaganda."

The schools now commonly offer the pledge, he said. Nelson a year ago vetoed a compulsory pledge bill, holding that it would be illegal under the constitution.

He said he believes in the pledge on a voluntary basis and does not object to the revised priority list since they will form the core of American nuclear striking power.

Nelson also repeated his earlier worries that recruiting of University of Wisconsin faculty by other institutions shows a dangerous erosion, reflecting the sagging Wisconsin salary scale for teachers.

Says U.W. Loses Ground

The chief executive said at his new conference that since 1950 the university has lost ground compared with other Big Ten conference schools and universities in California.

Last week four Wisconsin medi-

NATO to Use Nuclear Weapons If Necessary

general nuclear war. The Americans feel that conventional infantry, armor and artillery are needed more than ever, and they hope information on the horrors of the nuclear alternative will spur the allies to speed up fulfillment of their conventional arms commitments.

No Independent Force

The proposal for an independent NATO nuclear force was pushed into the background. While Secretary of State Dean Rusk said he still was ready to consider proposals for such a force, it was apparent that pressure for NATO to have its own nuclear deterrent has faded appreciably since the ministers' December meeting.

The alliance agreed that in light of present military problems, the balance between NATO's conventional and nuclear forces would continue to get continuous examination. This reflected U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's strong plea for more conventional forces. NATO now has about 25 of the 30 divisions that have been its goal for years.

McNamara gave the allies assurances that the United States itself is not slighting its conventional forces. He said the United States now had 16 divisions compared with 11 when the Berlin crisis erupted.

The communique again proclaimed NATO's determination to keep open the access routes to West Berlin and to maintain the "Western presence" in the former German capital.

Segni Chosen President in Bitter Fight

er Giuseppe Saragat. Segni's close opponent in the presidential race, pointed bluntly to the "dangerous fracture" that might result.

In a letter to Christian Democrat party chief Aldo Moro, Saragat refused to withdraw his candidacy and throw his party into support of the Christian Democrat candidate. He said he would withdraw only if the Christian Democrats dropped the conservative Segni for someone else.

Saragat said, too, he thought he should be elected president. He reminded Moro that three parties involved in the center-left agreement were backing him, and only one party in the coalition backed Segni.

Segni will be sworn in as the third president of the Italian republic May 11. The term of office is seven years, with an annual salary of $20,000 and an official residence in the historic Quirinal Palace.

The post is largely ceremonial. His chief political function is to sound out the various parties when a government resigns and select leaders to try to form a new government.

bound car skidded on a curve near the Van Dyne Creek and crossed over partly into the north-bound lane and in front of the Schrick car. The left front of the Schrick car struck the Duquette car's side.

Wreckers were called to pry the two cars apart. Traffic was blocked for almost an hour.

Two Milwaukee fishermen were drowned and two others rescued when their overloaded 14-foot aluminum boat sank in Lake Butte des Morts near the U.S. 41 bridge about 4 a.m. today.

Roszak's body was recovered in dragging operations this morning and boats continued the search for Niski's body into the early afternoon.

Rescued were Edward Krzewinski, 41, and Herbert Wescott, 45, both of Milwaukee. They were rescued by another fisherman. Their two companions, who drowned, had started to swim for the bridge.

Conservation Warden Frank Deringer said the four were fishing in a 14-foot aluminum boat which was equipped with a 35-horsepower motor. This, plus the number of men in the boat, caused the boat to be overloaded and to sink, he said.

The mishap happened about 75 feet from the bridge causeway and in the north channel west of the bridge. Skin divers may be used later today to locate the second victim's body.

Police were called to the scene by William Brooks, 1706 Pearl Ave., Oshkosh, the bridge tender.

Monday, May 7, 1962 Appleton Post-Crescent A4

The two who were rescued were brought to shore at a marina.

Schultz died early Sunday of injuries received in a head-on collision on the two-lane stretch of U.S. 41 between Oshkosh and Fond du Lac. The accident earlier had claimed the life of Mrs. Esther Landgraf, route 1, Amherst.

Four Injured

Her husband, Frank, and four occupants of the Schultz car were injured. Schultz was found in the car. His wife, two sons and another passenger were thrown out of the vehicle. The accident occurred less than a mile south of the Winnebago County line.

The death of Pauline Rotar, 20, of Madison, Sunday afternoon of injuries received in a one-car accident at Mt. Horeb brought the state traffic toll for 1962 to 229. A year ago on this date, Wisconsin highways had claimed 259.

Carl Bonkamp, rural Muscoda, managed to swim ashore.

2 New State Waterway Regulations Proposed

MADISON (AP) — The State Conservation Department reported today it has proposed two water regulations for approval by the Conservation Commission.

One proposes that no motorboats be permitted on lakes of less than 50 acres which are not part of a connected chain. The other asks that the speed of motorboats on all lakes be limited to five miles an hour within 200 feet of shore.

Records show Wisconsin has 2,221 lakes with an area of 50 acres or less.

father of two children, drowned in the Wisconsin River Sunday night when a small boat apparently swamped in the wake of another craft. His brother-in-law, Delbert Bensch, also of Muscoda, managed to swim ashore.

Nelson May be Planning More Buying of Recreational Land

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The statehouse is guessing that Gov. Nelson will propose yet another expansion of the state's recreational land buying program when he delivers a personal message to the State Conservation Commission at a meeting in Superior next Friday.

Nelson regards the $5,000,000 a year fund that is guaranteed for the next decade through the receipts of the additional one cent cigarette tax levied last year as one of the big achievements of his political career. He has several times confided to friends and associates that he is sorry he did not ask for a two cent boost.

The one penny financing program came considerably easier than he had expected. In retrospect he is convinced he could have won a program of twice that size, and he is likely to submit the proposition as a goal for the Conservation Commission in the 1963 legislature. Four of the six commissioners were appointed by him, and presumably will be inclined to follow his lead.

Public announcement has been withheld, but the State Highway Commission has approved a blueprint of highway improvement goals that foresees the four-laning of all of the major state trunk highways of the state during the next two decades.

The plan was reported to the legislative highways committee the other day, but in such guarded terms that only a handful of the listeners in the hearing room apprehended its meaning.

The plan will be part of the comprehensive state plan, comprising the transportation chapter, that is now being drafted by the state Department of Resource Development.

David Carley, director of the Resource Development Department, intends to have the first draft of the long range state plan off the press by July 1.

Preliminary reports indicate that it will be a voluminous publication, probably reaching 900 pages.

Sen. Jess Miller of Richland Center and other members of a legislative highways committee were discussing a summer and fall schedule of meetings and hearings out in the state. One member objected that August would be a poor month, because of vacation schedules.

"It is campaign time too," grumbled Miller. The old lion of the Republican state senate caucus is running for another term in the big rural southwestern district stretching from Portage on the Wisconsin River to Prairie du Chien on the Mississippi.

A drop in sales of cigarettes in Wisconsin for the second successive month, as documented by slipping tobacco tax yields, is puzzling some authorities.

Trade sources say it may reflect buyer resistance to the increased cigarette tax enacted by the last legislature.

The food industry, according to statements of some of its political agents is increasingly optimistic about the chances for doing away with the poorly enforced and widely evaded margarine tax the next time the legislature meets. The ancient and controversial levy would have been repealed in the 1961 legislative session except that weariness of the legislators in the final stages permitted a small scale filibuster by the "friends of the farmer" to succeed.

Delays in working out a set of rules for the operation of the new law providing bargaining rights for municipal employee unions may mean that the 1963 legislature will be sitting before the new program is fully operative.

In that event, there will be a strong push for revisions of the law if the legislature remains in Republican control in the fall elections, which appears a reasonable prospect to most observers.

The new statute was won by the union lobby after a bitter fight against the organized local governments of the state which regarded it as a hard blow against the traditional concept of home rule in governmental administration. A legislative committee is even now considering possible changes in the law, which will be pushed hard if the political atmosphere in the next session is favorable.

"We'll soon need a study committee to keep informed on the study committees," grumbled Assemblyman Jerome Quinn of Green Bay at a legislative committee meeting the other day.

Quinn's perplexity about the maze of investigations currently underway by administrative, academic and legislative agencies is shared by other persons.

Perhaps never before has as much of the state's budget been involved in studies, often fancifully called "research", and unfortunately, often resulting in no very tangible returns. Some of the studies are obviously bumping into each other.

U.S. Journalists on Education To Honor Kennedy's Military Aide, 2 Others

MADISON (AP) — President Kennedy's senior military aide, Maj. Gen. Chester V. Clifton Jr., will be cited for distinguished service at the 1962 University of Wisconsin journalism institutes Friday.

The UW board of regents also approved citations for Herbert O. Kubly, New Glarus-born novelist and playwright, and Dr. Fred S. Siebert, dean of the college of communications arts at Michigan State University.

Dr. Ralph O. Nafziger, director of the University of Wisconsin school of journalism, said the citations will be presented to the three alumni at the institutes' banquet Friday evening.

Gen. Clifton received his M.A. in Journalism from Wisconsin in 1948. Kubly is a 1937 graduate and Siebert graduated in 1923.

Secrets of Test-Taking Helpful With Year-End Exams Coming

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Professor of Education, University of Southern California

Are you test wise? You better be.

First, because end-of-term tests are around the corner.

But more than that, this is becoming a nation of test takers.

We must take tests not only to advance in school, enter and remain in college — but to get jobs and win promotion.

Practically everywhere we turn people with low scores. As a rule, someone is trying to measure our brainpower, our potentialities, our general knowledge or our specific knowledge.

And once we've been tested — for better or worse — we are stuck with our grades.

Since this is the situation, it pays to know something about these tests, and a few of their secrets.

Of course, tests don't tell the whole story. We all have heard of people with low IQ's who succeeded. And there are many people with high IQ's who do not. But most of the people with high scores do better than most of the people with low scores. As a rule, the spuds go to the good test takers.

What about these tests? One of the best, most accurate and frequently used is the multiple-choice test. The student chooses the best, or the correct answer from four or five possible answers. One of the big objections to such tests is that usually each alternative answer is so worded that a slight misreading of the original statement or question will make the choice seem to be true although it is false. One mistake in answers should be like a decumal point or one added word will make a wrong answer appear to be right. The test makers shy away from including choices that are too obviously wrong.

An unsuspecting test taker will skim the question and then go on to finding the answer. He will read to the next question a choice and check back to the question to see whether it is right. Now his mind is "tricked" into the very mistake that the test maker thought would be made.

Thus happens because we are accustomed to reading true statements and our minds sometimes fill in words or leave out words to make a statement appear to be what we are expecting to read.

I have known students to become expert at taking multiple-choice tests by just knowing those secrets and following these simple steps:

Read the question carefully before looking at the list of possible answers. Know what the answer should be like.

Hold the question firmly in mind while checking for the correct answer. Refuse to be tricked.

When you've answered a question, STOP thinking about it. Clear your mind before you go on to the next question.

Fatigue Usual Symptom of Depression

Security Loss Usually Brings on Tired Feelings

The single most common symptom of depression is fatigue, according to an article in the "Journal of the American Medical Association."

A large number of persons seek medical aid for bodily complaints, often severe, which may or may not be related to a disease, and many of these persons with so-called functional disease are suffering symptoms of depression.

Drs. John D. Stoeckle and Gerald E. Davidson, Boston, said:

From patients seen at the Medical Clinic of the Massachusetts General Hospital over a four-year period, the authors said they found that this depressive reaction followed a wide variety of events which came as a psychic shock to the patient and produced a feeling of personal loss.

The three main types of shock which precipitated the depression among the group observed were bodily injury, loss of a sense of security, and separation from a loved person they said.

The single most common symptom of disturbance in bodily feelings was a loss of the feeling of well-being," they said. "The patient complained of fatigue, tiredness or heavy feelings. The fatigue was often overwhelming and made daily activity very difficult. The usual obligations to oneself and to family, friends or job could not be fulfilled. The spectrum of this depressive fatigue varied from a general feeling of being tired all the time to inability to work or get out of bed in the morning.

Disturbances in sleep patterns and eating habits as well as a feeling of helplessness, hopelessness, irritability and resentment were other common symptoms, they said.

Generally, the patients felt a distressing loss of self-esteem and withdrew their interest in people, objects, and activities, they said.

Such cases can be treated, the researchers reported.

Through the techniques of psychotherapy, they said, the physician can remove the patient's grievous helplessness, hopelessness, and sometimes anger, such as by letting him talk it out, and the patient also can be helped to adapt to his loss.

It is often difficult to realize that many losses are irrevocable, that substitution is often impossible, and that illness will continue until the patient is able to accept the facts," they said. "The course of depression may be chronic, like that of many other medical diseases, and its modification likewise difficult. However, many reactions to acute losses are self-limited and, if not, can often be alleviated."

Young Business Man: YOUR CARRIER

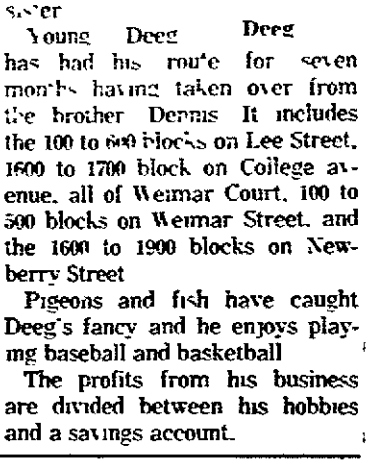

The seven new subscribers Bill Deeg has recently added to his customer list are keeping the Post-Crescent news-carrier a little busier these days. Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Deeg, 130 S. Telulah Ave.

There is also a brother and a sister.

Young Deeg has had his route for seven months, having taken over from the brother, Dennis. It includes the 100 to 600 blocks on Lee Street, 1600 to 1700 block on College avenue, all of Weimar Court, 100 to 500 blocks on Weimar Street, and the 1600 to 1900 blocks on Newberry Street.

Pigeons and fish have caught Deeg's fancy and he enjoys playing baseball and basketball.

The profits from his business are divided between his hobbies and a savings account.

Tense Nerves Block Bowels

New tonic-tablet laxative acts on colonic muscles...deconstipates overnight.

The muscular wall of your colon contains nerves known to medicine as Auerbach's Plexus. In regular people, these nerves tell the colon muscles to propel and expel waste from the body.

But tense nerves or emotional upset can block your normal bowel habits. Your colon muscle impulses are no longer strong enough to eliminate waste—which dries and shrinks, further aggravating the condition.

Relief, doctors say, lies in the non-irritating, de-constipating principle of a new tonic-tablet called COLONOID.

Operation Sunrise

Undersecretary of State George Ball has warned Americans that the war in Viet Nam—and war it is—will be “long, slow and arduous.” This isn’t the type of fight that Americans traditionally enjoy. But at the present time it is the closest we have come to taking an aggressive and active position in the struggle against Communism.

Ball apparently was concerned that many Americans think we are more involved than he says we are. He pointed out that in the last seven years only nineteen Americans have been killed or wounded in Viet Nam and that four of these were civilians. But until this last winter the United States was far less actively engaged in the conflict. Last October there were about 700 American soldiers in Viet Nam; now there are supposed to be well over 4,000 with at least 7,000 expected to be there soon. The transportation of Vietnamese troops by United States helicopters with United States pilots is new. And, according to some observers in the area, bombing raids are being made by Americans in American planes with only the presence of one Vietnamese on board technically making it an official Vietnamese action.

Over the last winter, Americans in the area have developed Operation Sunrise from a study of British organization of Malayan peasants to fight Communist infiltrators in the last decade. Malaya is officially neutral but leans in the direction of the free west, has successfully repelled Red invaders, has a reasonably democratic government and a high level, among Asia-tics, of national economic health.

Operation Sunrise consists in part of organizing strategic hamlets so that some 85 per cent of the Vietnamese peasants living in the remote jungle lands will be in contact with American forces and able to defend themselves against both the terrorism and overtures of the Communist Viet Cong.

The villagers are banded together, stockades are built around the villages, identity cards are required, arms are supplied and “civil action” teams are sent in to help encourage the peasants to fight and know what they are fighting about.

Regional Planning Troubles

The Southeast Wisconsin Regional Planning commission, embracing a dream of co-operative governmental service development and foresighted blueprinting in the populous district including and adjoining Milwaukee county, is in serious difficulty.

Even before the idea of regional teamwork has been fully put down in program form, there is the threat of revolt by a key county that may lead to its withdrawal from the organization.

The officials of Waukesha County, which is essential to any pretense of regional planning activity in that metropolitan region, are seriously aggrieved about the attitude of the regional planning commission on several matters, including a new north-south through highway route that the Waukesha interests regard as vital.

This is a regrettable development, although it has some inverse usefulness, it may be supposed, in demonstrating to

Wrong Target

The pickets who have been marching in front of the White House in protest of our nuclear testing and the other Americans who are promoting unilateral disarmament in a blind approach to the nature of both Communism and mankind have the right in this country to their point of view and its expression. Their very presence indicates the confidence born of freedom of our form of government.

Nor do we insist that the protesters have nothing to worry about. The danger of fall-out from the present tests upon future generations is not really scientifically known. And certainly we have no way of knowing for sure that the present series are not the major impetus to future Russian tests although it seems apparent that the Soviet Union would conduct another series in any event.

But it sometimes seems strange that the real cause of both the general and specific tension in the world is not the aim of these Americans who take the time to picket and send the money to protest. True enough some decried the Russian series of tests last fall. But where are the Linus Paulings marching with their signs around the conference hall in Geneva? How many pickets shout in front of Russian embas-

Operation Sunrise is no get - free - quick scheme. It is expected to last several years if it is successful and Ball points out that the Malayan struggle took seven years.

If we are going to initiate action against Communists around the world—and it becomes difficult to know how we are going to defeat them if we don’t—our effort in Viet Nam sounds pretty good. Americans are lending their know-how in jungle fighting, their organizational ability and their knowledge of the lures and dangers of Communism to the struggle. But it must, in the long run, be the people of the besieged nations themselves who must understand and fight.

Critics point out that our activities in Viet Nam are in direct contrast to our efforts to mediate a settlement in Laos. The charge is quite true. In Viet Nam we are not only advocating the active resistance to all Red pressures, we are backing up the advice with bullets. In Laos, we continue to negotiate for an agreement with everyone in sight and a coalition government which would include known Communists.

But the critics also must recognize that everything cannot be done at once. The situation in Laos deteriorated while we waited for SEATO to do something, for the Laotians to recognize the danger and rise up, for something magic to change everything. By the time our authorities were willing to recognize that SEATO wasn’t going to move and that no one was going to take us off the hook, it may have been too late for anything except a full scale war with American troops doing all the fighting.

If it can be shown in Viet Nam that Red guerrillas can be defeated and that Asiatic peasants can be taught and encouraged successfully to resist Communist invaders, Laos might be rescued.

We have to start some place unless our struggle against Communism is going to be purely defensive. It can be argued that a defensive police protection type of opposition is all we need. But then we must rely upon the weaknesses of the Communists themselves. There are plenty of flaws in Communism but by the time the world, particularly the political naive, wakes up to them, it may be too late.

other districts of the state where there is only an incubus of the regional concept the hazards and the pitfalls in this brave new idea.

Especially should it be noted by the members who will constitute the brand new Wolf River basin planning commission in our own neighborhood, recently authorized by an executive order of Gov. Nelson.

Meanwhile, we may share with Gov. Nelson the hope that the Waukesha grievance won’t prove to be a fatal flaw in the southeastern metropolitan planning enterprise. This is a matter of primary concern to the residents of that zone. But in only a slightly secondary way, it is an issue that concerns the whole state, which is yearly becoming a smaller and tighter place as communications and transport improve and as the urbanization tendency of the whole eastern quarter of the commonwealth intensifies.

sies around the world whenever the Soviet delegate at Geneva barks out another “nyet.” Why weren’t there riots around the world every time another stone was added to the Berlin wall?

The American protesters apparently have accepted, on the one hand, the perdition of the Communists as far as breaking treaties, imprisoning suspected spies and secretly preparing nuclear devices are concerned. But they also have somehow reached the conclusion that the only thing causing the evil is fear of the free world. Disperse the fear, they say, by sinking our ships and spyplanes, and the roaring lions will become as little lambs gamboling with us in free pastures.

It really takes no courage or even a great deal of imagination to picket the White House although, as in the case of Dr. Pauling, probably no previous picket then went to dinner with the President. We would suggest that these men and women should begin a real campaign of peaceful protest against the Soviets and other Communists. Of course, such protests would have to be conducted only in free nations since the Communist lands would call it treason and the neutrals would be scared silly. But why not put the shoe on the foot it fits?

Another Link To Our Past Under Study

From The New Orleans Times

An ingenious new method of dating ancient historical events (in this instance Babylonian affairs from 601 B. C. to 1 A. D.) combines the exactness of astronomy and the versatility of electronic brains. By feeding a computer laws of motion and the movement pattern of heavenly bodies, Dr. Bryant Tuckerman of the International Business Machines Corp. obtained “sky-maps” accurate to within an hour of the evening sky over Babylon at 5- and 10-year intervals for the 500 years under study.

This unique attack is possible because of the Babylonians’ careful attention to astronomical observation. References in texts to celestial phenomena, such as moon phases, constellations, appearances of morning or evening stars, and so on, can be pinpointed, both supplementing and conforming (or not) dates already arrived at by other methods. Prof. Abraham J. Sachs of Brown university is already trying out the new system on Babylonian cuneiform inscriptions at the British Museum of London.

The method is obviously limited to use on civilizations that left records of systematic observation of the skies. Archaeologists may find it useful then, in studying the Middle American Mayan culture, whose exact calendar is based on such observations and is well understood, but whose relative chronology is still not agreed upon.

Young GOP Told to Get Up and Yell If They Don't Like Things

BY MORRIE RYSKIND

The mail to this column falls roughly into four classifications, three of which have at least one central point of agreement: to wit, I am a loud-mouth. The fourth — but let's start with the majority report.

liberals to whom my screams and bursts of outrage are sweet music as I am dragged, against my will, from the darkness of the McKinley Era — you may recall him as the President who, when he got into a war about Cuba, went so far as to win it — into the glorious sunlight of the 20th century.

Second are the notes from moderate Republicans, who argue that some of the points I make are sound but that my very uncouthness negates their validity. They suggest that I brush up on my Emily Post and be a little more mannerly in addressing the chair; then, they contend, if I more genteelly pointed out that some of the things this administration is doing might one day destroy the Republic, I might be more effective. Even when the house is ablaze, they maintain, a gentleman dresses for dinner and does not run out in his pajamas and slippers wildly yelling “Fire!”

And the third category is made up of tired troglodytes who say in effect, “The jig is up, and you are just thundering in the wilderness. Better to go quietly and salvage what you can before the deluge overtakes us all, captors and captives alike. Save your breath, boy.”

Now I recognize fully that, under our concept, the majority opinion becomes the law of the land; and if I bother to present my minority report — unsigned even by Justices Frankfurter and Harlan — it is only for the record. The fourth group — the dissenters — is composed chiefly of Young Republicans who echo my protests against the Establishment and ask, “What can we do about it?”

Ah, if only I knew! If only I had, out of my experience and research, evolved an alchemical formula which would restore the ebbing strength of the constitutional republic the fathers gave us, now only a shadow of its former self! Or if only I were skilled in wizardry and could utter the magical phrase that would undo the shackles the freest men in the world have put on themselves in the name

— God save the mark! — of liberty.

But I have no faith whatsoever in alchemy or wizardry. I have watched too many self-deluded and deluding messiahs pour the secret potions and say the magical incantations that wear to save the world—and never was the miracle passed. Not even a tame rabbit came out of the hat.

The world, it was the old world still,” if I quote my Housman correctly. Indeed, it was worse.

For though all the false prophets failed, the evil they did lives after them, and the world is far less safe for freedom and democracy as a result. The spurious coins of the counterfeiters have driven out the solid virtues, and myriads who were proud to stand on their own two feet have shed their responsibilities to become the grateful wards of the state. And not only, alas, in the USSR, but here in America, also.

I might be able to take this more stoically had my ancestors dition that forbade them to cry out even when a fox was devouring their inwards. But I come from a tribe that erected the Walling Wall, before which it was proper to pour out one's lamentations, and I carry a portable model with me. So — Mrs. Post to the contrary notwithstanding — I'll continue to scream as long as I'm able.

Indian State Aid Chance to Check U. S. Idea

From The St. Louis Post Dispatch

Kerala state in southern India has been a place to watch for several years. It is heavily populated and has a serious unemployment problem, this situation being the major reason why Communists were able to take control of the state government in 1957. Two years later the Red administration was dismissed for misrule by Indian President Prasad. In 1960 a coalition led by the nationally ruling Congress party won the state election. But in this year's general election the Communists made gains.

In view of this background the decision of the United States to authorize loans to finance the $52,500,000 Pamba Kakki hydro-electric project is of more than usual interest. One purpose is to reduce unemployment by providing electric power for industrial expansion. Of itself the project will not end unemployment, but in view of Ambassador Galbraith “it will help quite a lot.” Here is a test of the theory that Communism feeds on misery; if unemployment declines, so should Communist political strength.

'Party Platforms' Have Little Meaning

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The political parties of Wisconsin are preparing for the drafting of the statements of belief and purpose which are intended to justify in the fall elections the ballot support they are soliciting from the 1,500,000 voters who are likely to go to the polls.

Perhaps characteristically this business of Wisconsin platform making always has been somewhat more complex, and laborious, and therefore probably less intelligible, than on the national party scale, or in many of the other states of the federal union.

Partly the reasons are historical. Partly they may be attributed to the extra sensitivity and responsiveness of Wisconsin parties, which doubtless is a wholesome thing.

Today Republican and Democratic “platform” committees are at work, in preparation for the Democratic and Republican conventions to be held in Milwaukee and Sheboygan soon.

THE DISTINCTION

Yet in point of fact what is now going on is not “platform” making in the strict or legal sense of the word, and perhaps the distinction is worth an explanation.

The confusion that may exist in the public mind, and the uncertainty of the platform process as far as the political party professionals are concerned, arises out of the fact that the state has not been able to decide what a political party is, whether it is a voluntary association of politically active and like-minded persons, or a formal and legal entity.

The result has been that the political party in Wisconsin is both.

Thus the current platform deliberations and discussions relate exclusively to the so-called “voluntary” party organizations. What the Republican platform committee will produce for the state-wide delegate convention next month will have no standing in law. It will represent nothing except the sentiment of the men and women who wrote it and later, the men and women in the convention hall who indicated their approval by their votes.

The process is the same for the Democratic platform proceedings now underway. That document will have no legal standing, except as it may anticipate the position of the men who will be nominated for the public offices in the September primary election.

THE REAL PLATFORM

The true “platform” and the only one that will have any binding effect, even by implication, is that which will be written later, after the primary elections, by the respective nominees for state offices and the legislature in both parties. That is the legal platform, prescribed by law, and a public document by definition.

The two versions of a “platform” can and often do differ considerably, for obvious reasons. The summer platform is a piece of promotional literature in effect, and often reflects the prejudices, the hopes, and the wishes of men and women who are more extreme in their views than those who are actually nominated for office—in both parties. The Democrats' early platform tends to be more liberal, the Republican draft tends to be more conservative, than the legally defined statement of goals and pledges drafted in the fall.

It is the fall platform, however, that is the important one, the draft that is published at state expense and officially defines the position of the parties. It is the fall platform that has a binding effect on the nominees, if any platform has any effect, since it is what he and his fellow nominees deliberately addressed to the voters in a legally constituted convention. Whether such pledges truly are effective is a matter of the conscience of the officeholder and the attentiveness and capacity for memory of his constituents.

Cry May Arise Over British Check on Reds

From The Columbia (S.C.) State

An official report just completed by a British investigative committee claims that communist infiltration in Britain's Civil Service is dangerously “heavy.” And it would be safe to wager that those conducting the investigation will shortly be assailed by some fellow Britons as “radical right-wingers.”

Perhaps, too, there will be those in this country who decry the rise of “extremism” in the British government.

Rebels Leave Dead, Wounded

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for May 10, 1862.

Williamsburg, Va.—May 6th—The enemy evacuated this place and their works in front of the town last night, their rear guard passing through about 6 o'clock.

At 9 o'clock Gen. McClellan and his escort entered the town and took possession. A majority of the white inhabitants remained.

About 150 of the enemy's wounded were left behind without rations, medicines or surgeons. They also left a number of their dead unburied.

All of our wounded in yesterday's engagement who fell into rebel hands were left behind. Col. Dwight of the Excelsior Brigade, who was severely wounded and taken prisoner, also was left.

In the engagement the enemy suffered terribly. Gen. Ricketts was killed.

The enemy had a force of 50,000 men and only decided to evacuate after the brilliant bayonet charge of Gen. Hancock.

Labor, Business Both Like Government Help

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — What have you done for me lately? This is something neither labor nor business mentions when they howl in protest against government interference with their freedom, particularly their freedom to deal with each other. President Kennedy's troubles with labor and business are piling up just when, luckily for him, his group at the U.S. Chamber of Commerce meeting tried to undercut the chamber's limited support of Kennedy's proposals for federal aid to companies and workers and prices down to avoid inflation the pending trade expansion program. Another jolt Sunday from Walter Reuther, president of the AFL-CIO Auto Workers. In a report to the UAW convention Reuther rejected Kennedy's hope—sometimes called a form—la, although it's pretty vague—as a longer term goal. He called for higher wages than Kennedy has with the 1935 Wagner Act which The free enterprise system inter-relations by saying employers must bargain with a union. Labor Benefits 'Labor wants all the benefits it can get, like government insurance upon a minimum wage, a 40-hour work week or less. Add up all that both sides want in the way of government help—which invariably means government intrusion in their affairs—and they are not talking about the principle of absolute freedom. They're talking about not wanting to give up any more freedom than they can help, without government intrusion. Very often this is a myth, too. Help Needed There hasn't been a steel labor settlement for years without the government's having to take some part in it because the union and the industry couldn't reach solutions themselves. Last Feb. 28 a presidential railroad commission—made up of labor, management and public members—issued a report after studying for many months union railroad troubles. The commission blasted both sides for their failure to get along, use their heads and modernize themselves. This board, incidentally, suggested eliminating 35,000 to 45,000 jobs as unnecessary, although the railroad unions have wanted no part of that. Last week a Kennedy-appointed three-man board, while recommending a pay raise of about 10 cents an hour for 450,000 railroad employees who don't work on trains, also criticized both sides for their failure to settle their own problems without involving the aid of outsiders. Also last week an advisory committee appointed by Kennedy—made up of labor, management and public members—figured it was about time the government should butt into labor-management relations a little more by creating fact-finding boards to recommend settlements. Last month Kennedy had to get a court order to halt—if only temporarily—a maritime strike. He angered the steel industry by the pressure he asserted to force a rollback in suddenly raised steel prices. This apparently angered a lot of businessmen, as indicated by reports on the reaction Kennedy got when he addressed the U.S. Chamber of Commerce last week. Kennedy faces more trouble with other unions in the months ahead. The various reports from com-

Steel Move Was Outlined Earlier

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Since the White House crack-down on steel, fears that Washington is moving toward peace-time control of prices and wages have mounted alarmingly. There is now real danger that the fears themselves are damaging business confidence. The extreme accusations that President Kennedy is prepared to dictate price-wage trends and that we have taken a giant step toward state socialism are enough to frighten any believer in the U. S. system of private enterprise. Here are the background facts

Porter

— and I mean facts — to help set the record straight in your mind. The White House's reaction to the steel industry's across-the-board price hike at this time was foreshadowed back in January when the President presented to Congress his Economic Report together with the annual report of his Council of Economic Advisers. In that report on pages 185-190, the CEA laid down what it called "Guideposts For Noninflationary Wage and Price Behavior." If Big Steel's directors had bothered to read those six pages, surely they would have thought a bit more about the timing and method of their price move.

Offer Assistance

Thoughtful observers have realized the significance of these guideposts from the start. In a speech before the American Bankers Assn. in February, Under Secretary of the Treasury Robert V. Roosa called them to the attention of the nation's bankers, declared they represent "the most promising advance yet made in this country toward assisting 'without controlling or regulating' the process of collective bargaining." Roosa, a world-respected authority on monetary affairs, emphasized that with their acceptance, the U. S. will "have passed a most crucial milestone on the road" toward prosperity at home and lasting equilibrium in our financial accounts abroad.

The guideposts reject outright "controls in peacetime over the outcomes of wage negotiations and over individual price decisions" as "neither desirable in the American tradition nor practical" in our type of economy. "Final price decisions lie — and should continue to lie — in the hands of individual firms," the CEA said flatly. The only qualification is that "decisions on wages and prices recognize the national interest in its results" — hardly an inflammatory doctrine this late in the 20th century.

Here are the guideposts: The rate of wage increase, including fringe benefits, should not exceed the overall rate of increase in productivity in our country — meaning the wages should not rise faster than the rise in output per manhour or put even more simply, in industry's efficiency. Productivity has been climbing about 3 per cent a year so wages should not climb more rapidly than 3 per cent a year.

The rate of price increase or decrease should be geared to productivity too. For instance, in an industry in which efficiency is rising 6 per cent a year while wages are rising 3 per cent and which thus is enjoying declining costs, this would suggest price cuts. In an industry in which efficiency is increasing more slowly than wages, this would suggest price hikes. In an industry in which the two rates are equal, this would suggest price stability.

Flexibility Within There is great flexibility within these general guideposts, of course. As an illustration, wage boosts would exceed the general guide rate in industries where there are severe labor shortages and would fall short of the guide rate in industries where there is heavy unemployment. Price increases would be bigger than the guide rate in industries where the profit level is low, price decreases would be in order in industries operating at a very high profit level.

There is no implication of controls or dictation or rigidity in these principles and they — not the scare rumors floating around the country — are the basis of Administration policy on restraint of inflationary price-wage rises.

The steel wage settlement was well within the guideposts but the steel price hike would have smashed this fundamental formula for prosperity before it even had a chance to work.

Get the CEA's report presented to Congress Jan. 20, at least read pages 185-190. There you'll find the heart of the matter.

Director of Nurses Resigns At Memorial

Mrs. Preston to Start School of Practical Nursing

Mrs. Margaret Preston, director of nursing service at Appleton Memorial Hospital since it opened in 1958, has resigned to accept a position as nursing director starting a school of practical nursing in Oneonta, N. Y.

Mrs. Preston will leave June 1 for Oneonta, where she will be employed by the board of adult education. Plans call for the school to open in the fall, starting with a small enrollment.

A native of Pennsylvania, Mrs. Preston came to Appleton in July, 1957, to help with organizational plans for Appleton Memorial Hospital, which opened the following February.

Praised by Administrator "Her work in the organization and development of the hospital has been most significant," said John R. Shepard, administrator.

She took a leave of absence in February on physician's orders. Mrs. Geraldine Logan, R.N., has assumed temporarily the responsibilities for the nursing service since that time. Mrs. Logan has been with the hospital in a supervisory position since shortly after it opened.

Shepard said the hospital is now recruiting for a replacement for Mrs. Logan.

Has Teaching Experience Mrs. Preston has had experience in both administrative and teaching areas of nursing. Before coming to Appleton, she was employed at the Lancaster General Hospital, Lancaster, Penn., where she taught nursing students in an integrated course in social aspects of nursing and public health nursing.

She taught the first class in practical nursing at Southern Illinois University, in conjunction with her position as director of nursing at the hospital there, during the early 1950s.

One reason for her move, Mrs. Preston said, is to be closer to her parents, who live in Lancaster, Penn.

Aide to Democratic Chairman

Paul Corbin Admits He's Learned That 'Politics Is a Rough Game'

BY RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Corbin, about whom controversy was raised last year when he was appointed a special assistant to Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey, says he has learned that politics "is a rough game."

Currently he is working on the marginal election districts, those which can go either way, in preparation for the fall campaigns for Congressional seats.

Bailey appointed Corbin, of Janesville, Wis., as an aide last August and in September cleared him of accusations that he had been connected with communist causes.

No Dismissal Bailey said at that time he saw no reason for dismissing Corbin from his position with the Democratic National Committee.

The controversy arose last Aug. 29 when Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., placed in the Congressional Record a Milwaukee Journal story saying among other things that Corbin had worked some 15 years earlier for communist causes in Wisconsin.

Lie Detector Test Bailey replied to Laird saying he had talked with people who had known Corbin for a long time and their conclusion was that while Corbin had been a controversial figure, he never was affiliated with any subversive group.

Bailey said Corbin had volunteered to submit to a lie detector test, which was negative.

Corbin said this week he hasn't heard a thing about the Communist issue since last fall's "outburst."

"This is politics," Corbin said. "So, when you are in this game sometimes you get bouquets and sometimes a kick. This (Communist issue) makes good reading in newspapers."

Corbin said he has been back in Wisconsin three times since he became Bailey's aide and recently visited his home town of Janesville.

Home Town Knows "My home town knows all about this," Corbin said. "They don't take stock in it. People there laugh about the charges."

"This is a rough game. Politics. All politics. These charges have been made periodically over the years."

"One thing you learn, people are basically good. Friends, neighbors, acquaintances," Corbin declined to predict how the Democrats would fare in the close Congressional districts in the November elections.

Up to Bailey "Any statement on the outlook is up to John Bailey," he said. "I just work here. He interprets matters."

The Journal story said that Corbin, shortly after Robert F. Kennedy became attorney general, assumed an informal position in Democratic National headquarters in Washington. It said he met frequently with Robert Kennedy in private conferences. At that time, the story said, Corbin's field was patronage.

Byrnes takes exception to the printing of the booklet, which contends that the only practical way to provide medical insurance for the aged is through the Social Security system, because he feels that it was designed to influence Congressional votes for the pending administration's medical care program.

Pointing out that federal law prohibits the use of appropriated moneys for printed matter designed to influence, directly or indirectly, any congressman's vote, Byrnes has asked the comptroller general to take "immediate action" regarding the payment of its costs.

$4,554 Total Cost "I am informed by the public printer that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare ordered 3,000 copies of the booklet at a cost of $4,553.91," Byrnes reported.

The controversial booklet, which will sell for 50 cents apiece, was, as newspaper reports said, "unveiled" by Secretary Ribicoff in New York recently at the 13th Annual Albert Lasker Medical Journalism Awards luncheon.

The booklet also asserts that "without health insurance protection under Social Security, the promise of freedom from fear of want in old age cannot be truly met."

The Kennedy Administration medical care bill, as described in the booklet, is now pending before the House Ways and Means Committee, of which Byrnes is a ranking Republican member. This "Medicare" bill has been opposed by many state medical societies, including those in Wisconsin.

Castro Attack On Naval Base Not Expected

U. S. Keeps Careful Alert but Does Not Look for Trouble

BY STEPHEN TRUMBULL

Chicago Daily News Service

U.S. NAVAL BASE, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba — Just across the fence, a Castro soldier cradles a submachine gun and scowls under his Russian-style helmet.

This is our closest place in the Americas to armed, dedicated, belligerent Communists. We could reach out and touch them — and there are those who believe this would be a good idea.

A shack nearest the American gate is daubed with a hammer and sickle, "U.R.S.S." (Spanish equivalent for U.S.S.R.) and "Cuba si, Yankee no."

Placards bearing cartoons of a U.S. Marine being eaten by a crocodile and legends praising "the revolution" appear from time to time.

Outbreak Improbable

Yet, with all of this, few here believe that Fidel Castro will provoke a serious incident.

Long-time observers here will tell you Castro is convinced that any hole punched into this fence to let his laddies in might also let some very tough U.S. Marines out.

Marines are known to have extremely broad views as to what constitutes "defensive action."

This is believed to be the reason Castro pulled the trigger-happy, kid militiamen off the fence and replaced them with better trained regular troops.

Rear Adm. E. J. O'Donnell, USN, the combat-toughened commander of this base, agrees an attack now is unlikely.

U.S. Keeps Alert

"But," he quickly adds, "this is merely the rational viewpoint, and in dealing with an irrational character like this it could be dangerous to rationalize. We don't know what pressures he (Castro) is under from within or without. We don't know what last minute grandstand play he might attempt if he finds himself on the skids. "So we do not relax."

He has not spent a day or night off the base in his 16 months of duty here. In the pre-crisis days, base commanders popped in to Miami for weekends, made trips to Washington, or took routine leave with their families.

A jeep tour of the fence line with Marine Lt. Phil Harrington of Frederick, Md., and in a helicopter patrol with Navy Lt. John MacPhail of Perrine, Fla., emphasized the vigilance.

Must Stay on Trails

At every point of access through the rugged, almost straight up and down mountains. Red signs in both English and Spanish announce "mine fields." The mines are there, too. We were given some close-up views — too close for complete comfort.

Other signs warn our own people not to depart from well-established roads and plainly marked trails.

The "peaceful maneuvers" we are staging constantly just offshore in the blue Caribbean usually include at least one of our biggest aircraft carriers. Each of these carry nearly 100 jet fighter and attack bombers that could get here at supersonic speed.

At least four or more of the hottest aircraft are always on the fields here, fully armed and with pilots standing by. Other fighting aircraft also dot the two fields.

Marines in watchtowers on hill-tops scan the scene through binoculars. Coils of barbed wire flank some installations, with empty tin cans so hung that they would give an alarm if anyone tried to get through.

Before serving in Singapore the Rev. Mr. Cavaness sent his Cavanesses were missionaries to wife and children out of the country. They were in Ambon, during famine and hardship the time of the rebellion against the central government in 1950. The public is invited to his talk.

Award Winner to Talk At Architects' State Convention in Delavan

The 13th annual convention of the Wisconsin chapter of the American Institute of Architects will be held May 22 through 24 at Lake Lawn Lodge in Delavan. The theme is "Architects in Action."

Keynote speaker for the convention will be the Rev. Cloud H. Meinberg, O.S.B., an instructor at St. John's Abbey, Collegeville, Minn. He served as consulting architect in the creation of the 1962 AIA merit award winner, the Abbey Church at St. John's University, Collegeville.

Three seminar panels are planned for the convention. Speaker at the concluding banquet will be William Scheick, executive director of the American Institute of Architects, whose topic is "Changing Times and a Changing Profession."
